McDERMOTT'S RENDEZVOUS IS SOUGHT

NOW HUNTING APARTMENT WHERE McDERMOTT WAS HIDDEN IN CLEVELAND

Detective Slater Believes Solution Of Canton Murder May Be Revealed

Source Of Large Sums Of Money In Case Is Also Being Sought

By BEN STERN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

CANTON, O., Oct. 26.—Interest in the mystery surrounding the slaying three months ago of Don R. Mellett, crusading Canton publisher, veered sharply today from possibilities of startling developments that may be brought to light in a confession from Pat McDermott, believed key figure in the murder, to an elaborately furnished apartment in Cleveland, the address unknown, where McDermott claimed to have been hiding for three months while investigators were combing the country in an effort to apprehend him.

Belief that the solution of the entire murder mystery may be contained in this apartment was expressed today by Detective Ora Slater, who, with Prosecutor C. B. McClintock, brought McDermott back to Canton Sunday night.

To Find Apartment Is Job

"I believe that when we ascertain the whereabouts of that apartment we will be able to reveal the real motive behind the slaying of Mellett, for which Louis Mazer, Ben Rudner and Pat McDermott, alleged trigger man, are now facing trial on first degree murder indictments", Slater told International News Service.

"The real mystery today", continued Slater, "lies in the identity of the man or group of men, who gave Pat enough money to lie low for three months in an elegantly furnished apartment and to furnish him with everything his heart desired. It was this same group of men, or their emissaries, who came to take him away from his first hide-away when we went to get him a month ago. 'Two dark looking men' was the way the landlady of the boarding house where he stayed described them.

"There seems to have been a large amount of money used in this case", he continued.

Promised $2,500

Steve Kascholk, the informer, told the investigators that he was promised $2,500 if he would pull the trigger, and then backed out.

"Dickerings had been made with others for big prices to do the job, we learned, and now comes the report that money—big money—has mysteriously appeared from no known source to fight the prosecution of the case against the three indicted men."

While McDermott was being held incommunicado in a solitary confinement cell in the Canton workhouse today, prior to a visit from Slater and McClintock, who will attempt to obtain his confession, his brother, Bernard McDermott, who helped make the delivery of Pat to authorities, was in Cleveland, ostensibly searching for the mysterious apartment of unknown address.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—New York wicked?

No! It's the finest, cleanest city in the world, and if there is any wickedness it's brought here by "visiting firemen".

Nearly 3,000 Methodists, in convention here had the word of Mayor "Jimmy" Walker for this today.

"The city has not been treated fairly by visiting firemen," said the mayor, addressing the convention. "They gather here and, returning home with palsied hands and bloodshot eyes, tell everyone what a terrible city we have.

"If there is a spot in New York that is not decent and clean I'll sit down with you, find out where it is and settle it once and for all."

Annual Dinner And Meeting At Local Field Club

Trophies Are Awarded For Past Season At Event Monday Night

T. W. DICKEY IS TOASTMASTER

Three Directors Are Re-elected—Reports On Club Progress Are Made

Playing a tricky golf course is much like eating a tricky dinner, in that one has to be careful of one's form. It would be just as much a faux pas to use a niblick on the green as it would to use a salad fork for the coffee.

Not that this is a treatise by Emily Post. It's merely the preface to a more or less intelligent description of the annual banquet of the New Castle Field Club held at the club Monday evening, October 25. Sort of a practice swing, the first paragraph might be called.

Very Doggy Affair

It was a doggy affair, this annual banquet, if you get what we mean. Good food, good music, good speeches, plenty of golf talk, trophy awards, and a mighty pleasant atmosphere. One of these kind of affairs that resemble the cigarette advertisement which says "they satisfy." This one did and the only persons who might not have enjoyed themselves would have been a chronic dyspeptic, or a lineal descendant of Old Man Grump.

The tables were placed in the living room of the club, with each one bearing a placard as to its relative position to a golf course. Some were marked "Tee," others "Green," others "Hazard," and there is a suspicion that the card at the speakers' table was not a coincidence or an unintentional dirty dig. It was marked "The Rough."

As the guests seated themselves the Senior High School orchestra swung into an appetizing march. The orchestra played all evening under the direction of Miss Isabel Zehner, and while it has been charged that orchestras played at banquets to cover the noisy eaters, this one added much to the enjoyment of the occasion.

President Winter Presides

President George F. Winter presided at the speakers' table and asked J. Clyde Gilfillan to return Divine thanks for the food. Following this the guests busied themselves with roast turkey, sweet potatoes, pumpkin pie and other little knick-knacks designed to stay one until morning.

As the movie sub-titles have it, comes now the program.

Paul A. Welsh drove off with a musical number that had plenty of carry and no slice. He took a second shot at the urgent invitation of the guests and landed close up to the edge of the green.

President Winter then opened the business session of the annual banquet and nobody registered a protest when it turned out to be short and interesting. He gave a resume of the year's work and showed that the club had made a net profit of $3,185.38 for the year. This took care of the deficit which had hung on since 1924 and left the club $2,044.78 on the right side of the ledger. He reminded the members that the golf course needed traps, bunkers and hazards, a caddy house to take care of the boys and other improvements. He

Captures Black Raccoon In Tree At Rose Point

L. M. McDevitt of Rose Point has found something new in the raccoon world. McDevitt was hunting for raccoons Monday evening, when his dogs treed one and on inspection of it he found that it was a black raccoon weighing 18 pounds. The average coon weighs anywhere from 10 to 20 pounds. Mr. McDevitt brought the coon to New Castle this morning and exhibited it.

This is the first time in the history of Lawrence county that a raccoon of this color has been found. It was found on the farm of F. Frew, also of Rose Point.

Detectives Fail To Find Remaining $30,000 Of Missing Funds

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 26. — Only two $500 bills were found in the safe deposit box of Edward A. Goodfellow when it was opened today with the owner's permission by detectives searching for the $30,500 still missing in the Brotherhood Savings and Trust Company swindle.

It was in Goodfellow's property in Perrysville that detectives dug up five packages containing all but $30,500 of the $320,000 turned over to Charles E. Knapp, bond salesman, by officials of the labor bank for "bargain bonds" they never received.

Kiwanis Club Meeting Has Been Postponed

Becalse the Community Chest drive has been extended until Thursday, President of the Kiwanis Club Thomas W. Dickey stated today that the regular Wednesday meeting of the Kiwanis club would not be held this week. Kiwanians are asked to govern themselves accordingly.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—Deaths due to automobile operation reported from 78 of the larger cities in the country numbered 656 during the four weeks ending October 9.

This figure, the commerce department announced today, is the largest reported in any like period since the collection of the figures was begun two years ago.

Chest Drive Is Extended Until Thursday Noon

Workers Renew Efforts Today To Reach Goal Of $102,000

FUND TODAY IS AT TOTAL $77,164

About 3,550 Persons Have Subscribed To Chest So Far In Campaign

Because the third community chest drive is short approximately $25,000 of its quota of $102,182, it was decided today at noon to extend the time of the finish from today until Thursday. The total today amounted to $3367, bringing the grand total to $77,164.

The total today was far below what was expected. Usually the last day of a drive sees a spurt, with an attendant increase in the total of the gifts. Today was the lowest amount turned in during the drive, and R. H. Keltner, manager for the Hockenberry system wasted few words in commenting upon the situation.

Town Not Worked.

"This city has not been worked", said he. "The attendance here has been splendid, the enthusiasm good, but you have not worked the city as you can and should. I am not criticizing, merely laying before you the fact that New Castle cannot afford to see this drive fail, but fail it will unless you people get out today and tomorrow and put it over".

Last year there were 5500 subscribers to the community chest. Thus far this year there have been but 3551. This indicates that either the prospects have not been seen, or many people are refusing to give.

The workers went out of the noon meeting today filled with a determination to see this community

TOLEDO CLUBBER AGAIN APPEARS AND CLAIMS YOUNG LADY VICTIM

School Teacher Is Clubbed And Attacked On Monday Night

Every Officer In Toledo Is Put On Case To Capture Murderer

(International News Service)

TOLEDO, O., Oct. 26.—The maniac slugger has struck here again, his victim this time being Miss Lily Croy, 26, a school teacher, whose battered and criminally assaulted body was found in an angle of the Washington public school building early today.

Every peace officer in Toledo has been put on the trail of the fiend already held responsible for clubbing and attacking seven other women, three of whom he killed.

Miss Croy was attacked upon her return from attending night classes at Toledo University. The left side of her head was crushed, as if from three or four strokes of a club or bar. Her clothing was torn from her body.

Crime of Insane Person

Coroner Henzler, who examined the woman's body and declared that she had been criminally assaulted, also stated that the evidence indicated it was the crime of an insane person.

Detectives believed that the murder marks the third visitation of the fiend who terrorized the community here last November. For two weeks the depredations of the crazed clubber continued. His crimes finally were stopped when 1,000 ex-service men formed a vigilance committee and patrolled the streets by day and night.

In January, this year, after public terror had been somewhat calmed the clubber struck again, employing the same methods. In each instance he swooped from a dark recess upon a lone woman—clubbing her into insensibility and attacking her.

His second campaign of crime was apparently stopped when police rounded up all persons who had been discharged from insane institutions as having been cured. These were reincarcerated.

Swift steps have been taken to end the maniac's depredations. Toledo tonight will be an armed civilian camp. Every citizen will be permitted to carry arms and thousands of volunteer guards will patrol the streets and by-ways in the hunt for the murderer.

Joseph Hutchison Falls Dead While At Work On Church

Well Known Resident Of Community Passes Away As Result Of Heart Trouble

Joseph V. Hutchison, aged 55 years, of New Castle, R. D. 5, one of the best known men of this community, fell dead while at work on the new Free Methodist church at Coaltown, late Monday afternoon about 5 o'clock.

Mr. Hutchison was doing some carpenter work on the floor when he became ill. The men working with him called a physician from this city but he had expired before he reached his side.

A sudden attack of heart trouble is thought to have been responsible for his death.

Mr. Hutchison's death was very unexpected and comes as a distinct shock to the members of his family and friends.

He was born in Lawrence County, April 10, 1872, a son of the late John Hutchison and Eliza Sweezy Hutchison who survives him. He was a member of the Shenango United Presbyterian church.

Besides his widow, Alta P. Hutchison and his mother, Mrs. Eliza Hutchison he leaves one daughter, Mrs. Clair R. Haus of this city and two sisters, Mrs. B. H. Kegarise of New Castle and Mrs. John Thompson of R. D. No. 3 and three brothers, William Hutchison and Thomas Hutchison, both of New Wilmington and John Hutchison of this city. One brother, Frank, preceded him in death some time ago.

Funeral services will take place Thursday, October 28 at 2 p. m., from the Shenango United Presbyterian church in charge of Rev. McClintock. Burial will be made in Oak Park cemetery.

RECOVERY OF HOUDINI IS UNCERTAIN

(International News Service)

DETROIT, Oct. 26. — Harry Houdini, world famous magician, still was in serious condition today after an operation for acute appendicitis yesterday.

Attending physicians announced that his recovery was doubtful. They explained that the appendix had ruptured far over on the left side of the abdomen and a streptocic peritonitis had developed.

Houdini collapsed at the conclusion of Sunday night's performance. He appeared in the show against his physicians advice, rather than disappoint a capacity crowd.

Queen Marie Enters Canada

Leaves Buffalo For Visit Of Few Days To Parts Of Canada

MANY CONFERENCES IN SPECIAL TRAIN

By DAVID P. SENTNER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

ABOARD QUEEN MARIE'S SPECIAL TRAIN, AT NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., Oct. 26.—Amidst an atmosphere of intrigue rivalling a Balkan political convention, Queen Marie of Roumania left the land of democracy today for an excursion into Canadian territory.

While the glories of the world's greatest waterfall were unfolded to her majesty's eyes, whisperings and rumors of various sorts filled the corridors of the Elemen car royal train.

The bubbles which simmered the loudest eddied about the report that Queen Marie had been called back to Roumania by King Ferdinand.

A specific denial of this was issued through one of her majesty's spokesmen. Nevertheless, mysterious conferences were held in the royal section of the train. The Roumanian secret service man aboard also showed exceeding activity.

Her majesty, with cold improved, left American hospitality for a few days with a beautiful "slave bracelet" clasped to her shapely wrist. The jewel was a gift from the city of Buffalo. It was of white gold studded with jade and cost the city fathers $175.

The Buffalo city council went to considerable trouble to give her majesty a royal reception. They even wired the royal party if dress suits and high hats would be the proper receiving uniform. A royal attache wired back that it was "customary" and the welcoming commitee appeared faultlessly attired. Even the waiters at the royal dinner wore white gloves.

Just a week today and the scrap is on, and the ballots will fall like snow, and the boys will be out with their automobiles, asking the folks to go, to the voting booth to drop in a vote, for the lad that they want to win, and here and there if the need is seen, they'll be handing out pieces of tin. Just a week today and the candidates will know just how they will stand, and there'll be a rush to the ballot box, all over this favored land. And the fuss will be on in many a state and the boys and the girls will vote, and the very next morning you'll hear outside the bleating of someone's goat. Just a week today and the voting booths will see the folks stand in line, and the ballots will drop with a swish and thud, the weather is thirty nine

Serving Of 2600 A Community Dinner Will Start At 6:30 P. M. On Thursday; All Arrangements Now Completed

Plans are completed for the community dinner of the Chamber of Commerce at the Scottish Rite Cathedral on Thursday evening, it was announced this afternoon by A. L. Thayer, chairman of the general committee.

Doors to the cathedral will be opened at 5:45 p. m. on Thursday and will be closed at 6:30 p. m. It is expected that persons who attend the affair will come as early as possible, for the diners will be started to the dining rooms at six o'clock. It is anticipated that all will be seated by 6:30 o'clock.

Serving of the dinner will be started at 6:30, immediately after grace is said by the Rev. C. H. Holcomb, pastor of the First Christian church. President Fred L. Rentz of the Chamber of Commerce, will preside.

To take care of the matter of checking hats and coats Boy Scouts will be in service. At the four checkrooms, some 25 Scouts will be in charge of the work.

The reception committee named yesterday will be in charge of the work of greeting guests, while there will be 35 of the Consistory ushers in the lobby to look after the matter of taking the guests to the dining rooms and seating them.

Under the plan as announced today by Mr. Thayer, one thousand persons will be seated in the main dining room, with 500 each in the east and west dining room adjoining, and 500 in the ballroom to the north. The east and west dining rooms and the ballroom are connected with the main dining room and raised about three feet higher, so that all in attendance at the dinner will be well taken care of.

Serving of the banquet will be the work of a corps of 260 ladies. They will have access to the dining rooms from 14 different serving stations, so that it is expected that the work of waiting on the tables will be handled with speed and despatch.

It is anticipated that the dinner will be served and completed so that those at the tables can leave by 7:30 to go to the auditorium, where the program will be carried out.

There is a seat for every ticket sold, and despite the magnitude of the dinner event, it is anticipated that it will be handled without any confusion and with promptness.

The outside doors of the cathedral will be reopened at 7:45 for the purpose of admitting those persons who will attend the auditorium meeting, but who are not at the dinner, it is announced. There are still available some tickets for this part of the program.

At the dinner event the seating arrangements have been made so that there will be convenient room for all. It is expected that 2,600 will be seated, Mr. Thayer says,

Election Day In One Week

Voters To Cast Ballots For State And National Officials

QUIET CAMPAIGN COMING TO CLOSE

One week from today, Tuesday, November 2, the people of Pennsylvania will go to the polls and select the men who will direct the affairs of this commonwealth for the next two and four years, depending upon the office sought.

A governor is to be chosen, a lieutenant governor, a United States senator, a secretary of Internal Affairs, a congressman in every congressional district and legislators in every legislative district.

In many respects this campaign has been the quietest of years. No little groups of interested citizens can be seen on the street corners or in the barber shops arguing the merits and demerits of the various candidates, few public meetings have been held and an apathy seems to have gripped the electorate since the primary in May.

While there are a number of candidates running on various tickets the contest lies between the candidates of the Republican and Democratic parties.

For governor John S. Fisher has the Republican nomination and Eugene Bonniwell the Democratic. For lieutenant governor, Arthur H. James has the Republican and W. Clayton Hackett, the Democratic nomination. For United States senator William S. Vare represents the Republican party and William B. Wilson, the Democratic.

For secretary of Internal Affairs James F. Woodward, Republican, seeks re-election and is opposed by John Murphy. For congress from this district Dr. J. Howard Swick, Republican is opposed by James P. Leaf, Democrat.

For the General Assembly, first district which is New Castle, Bart Richards has the Republican nomination and H. L. Marvin the Democratic. In the second district, the territory in Lawrence county outside of New Castle, Milton A. Bickett, Republican is seeking re-election and James Kelso has the Democratic nomination.

told them of the work done this year by the Greens Committee of which T. F. Morehead is chairman and said that through the courtesy of G. G. Stitzinger, wells had been drilled on the course for the players.

Robert M. Garland, secretary of the club read his report and that of John Elder, Jr., treasurer. Mr. Garland stressed the need of members for the club, and a resolution was later passed in which an amendment to the classification rules was adopted.

Directors Re-elected

The terms of T. F. Morehead, A. C. Hoyt and Robert M. Garland having expired, an election was held. Upon motion of P. L. Craig the same three were re-elected. This ended the business meeting and the president then introduced the toastmaster of the evening, Attorney Thomas W. Dickey.

As a golfer, Mr. Dickey is one of the leading attorneys at the Lawrence County Bar. His scores are usually a few points less than his weight and his handicap sounds like a telephone number. But as a toastmaster! He's the Bobby Jones of the Banquet Board and Monday evening Mr. Dickey gave an exhibition of toastmasting that ranked him as a scratch player in this particular sport. Or say a plus four player.

After a few trick shots in the art of toastmasting, Mr. Dickey introduced the speaker of the evening, Rev. P. E. Burtt of the First Presbyterian church of Sharon, Pa., who spoke on the subject "Sportsman I Have Known." He gave an interesting recounting of his experiences as an A. E. F. Chaplain both in England and on the Russian Front.

Miss Helen Ewing followed Rev. Burtt and played as a piano solo "Etude in D Flat" by Liszt. Miss Ewing pleased her audience and was followed by Mrs. Irving C. Brown, soprano who sang "Songs My Mother Taught Me" and "Going Home." She also delighted the guests present.

Trophies Via Poetry

The toastmaster tuned back in again and announced that he was going to give away free, without restriction or lien of any kind, the trophies won during the season. For this part of the job, Mr. Dickey chose to lapse into poetry and presented the winners of the trophies with their cups and infinitum, with the poetry fitting in. A violinist playing Hearts and Flowers or Traumeri would have helped a lot.

That's about all there was to the annual banquet, but if you've read this far down you may have gathered that it was quite an affair. It was, as has been said, a rather doggy affair. Murrow D. Wells, chairman of the Banquet Committee and his corps of committeemen deserve plenty of credit for its success and got it. The winners of the trophies for the season were, and are:

She Wins Mark of 98 Percent In Home Demonstration Contest

It is said of our younger folk that their attentions are attracted to other things than the duties of the home. There are still some young ladies, however, who take quite an honor in being able to do a good job of housekeeping, as proved when 400 girls took part in Florida's recent Home Demonstration Contest. Miss Frances Christian won the honors when she was adjudged 98 percent perfect in the mechanics of the home. She will represent Florida at the International Boys' and Girls' Congress in Chicago.

Blood Is Life

Is your blood bad; have you pains in your bones and joints, swelling of the Glands, Boils, Pimples, Eczema, Old Sores that won't heal, rashes or breaking out of the skin? If so, see me at once. When your health has been undermined by worry or overwork, when your vitality is lowered, when you have that "don't care a rap" feeling, when your nerves are depressed, when your work appears too much for you, you are then in a run-down condition.

You may be an "old man" when actually young in years simply through neglect.

Weather Prophet, 85, Hits Snow Right

MERCER, Pa., Oct. 26.—Mercer county's oldest weather prophet, Jerry Welk, hit the climatic conditions right for Monday in his snow storm prediction.

Welk, who is 85 years of age and a member of the board of jury commissioners of this county, bases his prognostications not only on eight decades of life's experience but has also the records of his late father, also a goose quill prophet, to further enlighten him. Cold weather with snow flurries may be looked for again on October 28-29. Welk predicts November weather will be warm for the fore part of the month and very cold the last. Drifting snow storms may be looked for the first two weeks in December, Welk says.

Fewer 'Coons Caught But They're Bigger

MERCER, Pa., Oct. 26.—While the number of raccoons caught this year by experienced hunters is less than the catch of previous years, the size of the animals caught is making up for this deficiency. Another record is broken in the capture of recent date of a 23-pound coon by Tom Urey and Merle Nelson of this city with the dogs of Mr. Urey.

A 20-pound animal caught by Prescott and Leonard Ringer and a 17-pound coon, the capture of Howard Filer, are the outstanding catches by hunters of the Mercer community.

Find Bomb On Window Ledge

Infernal Machine Is Decovered At New York City Court House

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—An infernal machine, charged with enough dynamite to blow up the building, was found on a window ledge of the county clerk's office on the ground floor of the court house today.

The bomb was contained in a cheap suitcase and was equipped with clock-like mechanism, which had not been set.

It was fashioned of dynamite and hail evidently been made by some one familiar with such things.

The suitcase was discovered on the window ledge by Frank Duval, a title examiner, who notified other officials. The machine was sent to the bureau of combustibles.

The bomb consisted of a ten-inch cube of dynamite attached to a clockwork arrangement. Inspector Callahan of the bureau of combustibles said there was enough dynamite to blow up the court house "and probably several other building."

No reason for the explosive being left where it was could be discovered.

PRESENT PROGRAM AT THE MUSIC CLUB

Those who attended the meeting of the Music club at the Scotish Rite Cathedral Monday evening were truly rewarded by the artistic performance of Miss Elberta Kagy, violinist, and Miss Jessie Mockel, pianist.

The program was provided through the efforts of Dr. Frank Bellinger, head of the department of music at Westminster college.

Miss Kagy's solo was Romance by Beethoven. Her second group included three numbers, "Waltzing Doll," and "Song of the Volga Boatman" arrangements by Kreisler and "Zephyr" by Nubay. Miss Kagy's performance is an art that is well nigh flawless. Her playing is convincing and moving.

Miss Mockel played a group of three piano solos. The first an "Impromptu of Chopin" the second "After a Dream" by Faure an arrangement of Guy Maier, whom so many heard in joint recital with Lee Patterson and the third a "Ballad" by Brahms. LESSONS OF RECENT WORLD SERIES

WHATEVER else the world series may have revealed to the public eye, at least three assumptions present themselves as a resule of it. One is that baseball still draws a crowd. A second is that the St. Louis Cardinals are the very best 1926 had to offer in baseball teams. A third is that the baseball season is too long.

Football is the reason, and a valid reason, why the world series should be advanced into the month of September. Sports writers covering the national baseball tournament this year were deeply impressed by the inroads football is making in world series interest.

As long as football was of interest to college and university students alone public interest in baseball could be maintained on a large scale into late October. But the gridiron has entered upon a new era in which it rivals the Great American game in popular favor. Huge bowls and stadiums in all sections of the country offer larger seating capacities than the grandstands of the major league clubs, and baseball gate receipts suffer on those autumnal Saturdays on which football and baseball compete with each other. Even high school and professional football constitute a threat to baseball.

There is also the reason that October weather is unsuited for professional baseball of the super-quality the fans demand in the world series. Baseball has been fortunate in this way in some years but not one of the seven world series games this year was played under good baseball weather.

The baseball clubs and their players can not be censured for extending their "working year" as long as weather and other conditions permit, but when baseball learns that public enthusiasm can not serve two masters at the same time it will arrange to time its season so it closes when the football season officially opens.

DECLINE OF "SOCIAL CALL"

LEGION are the "sins" of the automobile. Blame for undermining the morals of youth is placed at its oft assaulted door. In it the American Empire is said to be declining to its ultimate fall. Paternity of that precocious child, the partial-payment plan, is attributed to it by those who see in it a force that is rapidly destroying the once sound economic structure of the nation. Have not boys and girls from the farms driven away in it to the city? Have not moralists and sentimentalists accused it of breaking the home circle? In fact, where is there a so-called social evil of today that this invention hasn't had a hand in?

If it is true that the automobile has brought all these ills upon humanity, it has more than compensated for them by one blessing it has brought. This boon to mankind is the abolition of that ancient and overworked custom of the "social call."

Anyone who attempts to find an old friend "at home" in this automotive age comes sharply to a realization of the utter futility of trying to be neighborly and sociable. To those so hopelessly old-fashioned as to go "calling" on a sunshiny Sunday afternoon the houses of the village must seem as deserted as Goldsmith's "Sweet Auburn! lovliest village of the plain."

What pangs of unsurfeited curiosity the ladies of gossip must suffer in this era when the new family in the neighborhood is never "at home to callers" at times when it is perfectly proper for a member of the auxiliary to call! And with this once constant threat of an unannounced visit from Mrs. Pecksniff down the street and this incentive for domestic tidiness and extravagance in household furnishings removed, is there not grave danger of that predicted deterioration of the home?

Motoring has usurped the place of the "afternoon call" as the great Sunday pastime of the nation.

INCOME TAX COLLECTIONS INCREASE

INCOME tax collections continue to show an increase over those of last year. In the third quarter of 1926 the total is $108,000,000 more than that for the same period of 1926. Corporation taxes account for nearly $88,500,000 of this increase.

When the revenue act was revised in the last session of congress the corporation tax was increased by one per cent. The plan was to offset the repeal of the levies on capital stock. Consequently, as one per cent increase is turning millions more into the treasury than it was a year ago.

Meanwhile, it should not be forgotten that the individual income taxes have been sharply reduced and a vast number of citizens are now paying no income tax whatever.

Certainly the revenue act of 1926 was a marked advance in sane and scientific taxation and has borne out most of the predictions made by those who were its advocates.

Conservatives are but men who have learned to love the new order forced upon them by radicals.

It is at about this time of the year that a man begins to wonder whether he is to have turkey.

People who spend their time talking about hats women wear have mighty little to occupy their minds.

Culture, however, is something more than can be obtained by spending 10 minutes each day with a dull book.

Too much importance is given by a good many on that Prohibition vote in Norway a few days ago. When you realize that the laws they were voting on applied only to liquor containing 21 per cent and higher alcoholic content you can see there wasn't much prohibition or temperance either in it. Just a little vote on a local subject in that country.

If you blow your own horn you will have trouble in getting anybody to join you in a duet.

You have probably noticed that very few people build a garage for one car any more. If they only have one bus they build a stall for two in the hope they will get another in the future.

Garages seem to be the popular places for keeping hootch instead of in the cellars. This is caused by the thought no doubt that if it blows up it will not wreck the home. It will wreck the home all right if it gets to the right place.

The 100th death from the effects of alcohol in eight months in Pittsburgh occurred last Saturday. Automobiles are not doing all the killing and maiming by a long shot.

A local man took his wife to a luncheon in this city a few days ago and when he let her out at the house the doorman gave him a ticket with a number on it. He was quite puzzled about getting the ticket and naturally thought it was a check for his wife. He thought he would fool the ticket giver and not go back, but when he got home his wife was waiting for him and asked him if he was hungry as all women do when they get home from a luncheon.

A female doctor of Kalamazoo, Mich., says another reason why girls should not cross their knees is that the habit causes curvature of the spine. Now what will the poor girls do when they sit down and have short skirts on?

The Community Dinner at the Scottish Rite Cathedral on Thursday evening of this week will positively not be a high hat affair. It will be very democratic. The millionaire will rub shoulders with the plumber and plasterers and the street sweepers will mingle with the poor over worked business and professional men. It will be an occasion for ordinary dress on the part of men and women. The great thing that night will be greeting one another with a hearty handshake and broad grin. And that is to be the style in New Castle ever afterwards. None of that codfish aristocracy exclusiveness that night from any human.

A 68 year old bozo in Youngstown married his 38 year old house keeper to keep him from paying her wages for her work. She has been granted a divorce from "Pap" as he is called and he says it was an April fool day for him when he married her. Funny that bird had all the chance in the world to get acquainted with her while she kept house and did not take advantage if it.

A Pittsburgh police magistrate a former New Castleite, Brandon by name, by the way, says just because a young woman smiles at a man on the street it cannot be construed as an introduction and an opening for a conversation on the part of the man. These Boys Are For New Castle

New Castle, Pa., Oct. 22, 1926.
MR. FRED L. RENTZ,
President Chamber of Commerce,
New Castle, Pa.
DEAR SIR:—

New Castle Lodge No. 609, Independent Order B'Nai B'rith, heartily commends the idea of the Community Dinner to be held October 28th, and feels that the tremendous success which it is bound to be, should be a source of great satisfaction to those who sponsored and who worked for it.

The members of our organization will be liberally represented at the dinner.

Yours very truly,
ABE LEVINE,
Secretary.

No matter how important we may feel it is usually hard to make others see our importance.

Honestly we feel more concerned about who will be a director in one of New Castle's industries than who will be a director in the Field club.

You have to keep out of the ruts on the road to success.

The republican candidate for governor in New York state won't meet Al Smith on his beer pronuncements but he's making a lot of noise in rattling the milk cans. And milk seems to be a greater issue in New York state than beer. Suppose they are satisfied with their beer, but the milk is adulterated.

The congregation of that church in England, who's preacher promises not to preach more than 10 minutes during the coal strike, might have an incentive to contribute to the striker's fund.

This is supposed to be canned food week but in the average home it won't be any different from any other week. Between the home canning and the store canning nearly all food is canned, and we can't very well get along without it.

Harry Lauder is in this country for his 19th successive year for a concert tour. The eminent Scotchman hasn't yet made his farewell tour and won't so long as the good American cash plays such a merry tune on his cash register.

Geese are reported on the way south which is a sure sign that winter is coming. The annual squabble over the price of coal is a sure sign and one that is unmistakable.

Among other things beauty contests indicate that a lot of the prettiest girls are too proud to enter.

"The truth will make you free," has ancient and honorable sponsoring, but more often it would send folks to jail.

It is estimated that Christmas cards will cost the country $55,000,000 this year, fifty millions of which will be spent on sending them to those who might send us one.

Queen Marie didn't add much to her popularity when she barred the news reporters from her train and again she made a blunder when she talked to the reporters about smoking cigarets. Even in this land of the free smoking by women isn't considered the nicest thing in the world and the fact that a queen smokes doesn't add much to her dignity and ladylike beauty. Of course it's the queen's business what she does but smoking isn't much business for a queen. The first lady of the land wouldn't be the first lady in the minds of a good many if the papers were full of stories of the kind of cigs she smoked.

Knickers and a bob don't cramp her style when she needs a cry.

The election campaign so far has been a very quiet and modest affair. And all those people who made money out of the primary are left holding the bag now. There ain't going to be any fat pickin's this fall.

Beauty shop operatives begin where nature left off, but the operatives are unable to improve much on nature even though nature made a bad job of it.

A fashion arbiter says that curves for women are coming back. Well in a good many cases they are already there; all they need is to be warped into shape.

It is a question to know best how to control young women who insist on showing their knees in public, a woman lecturer declares. It is rather a knotty problem, we'll admit.

It costs Japan $125,000 a year to cut kissing scenes out of its pictures from this country. In many instances there can't be very much of the film left.

At a school recently opened in St. Louis a two months' course in furnace firing to eliminate smoke is offered. Why not extend the scope of that educational innovation? We certainly could stand for a lot of elimination in this town.

The Chicago chief of police says that he cannot stop the warfare betwen gangs. Well if he can't he ought to get off the job and give it to some one who will try.

It often happens that the man who never does anything has the most to say about it.

News From Robert Burns.
Why Three Were Killed.
Election Big, People Cold.
Red Mars Comes Near.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE
(Copyright, 1926, by N. Y. American, Inc.

Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, who plays with spiritualism, as do other men getting old, has news from Robert Burns. That poet, says, from heaven or wherever spirits dwell, that he does not like the pictures of himself usually shown, and tells which pictures he does like.

* * *

As long as he was talking, what a pity Burns did not dictate another poem or two. His description of the place where spirits live would be worth while, especially news of that cuttysark dancing on the Scotch tombstone as the clock struck midnight.

Why must spirits always send silly messages, such as "Mamma is very happy?"

* * *

James Stoddard, laboring man, killed three of his four little girls with an ax and told the police: "I just, killed my three kids and I want to get the other one." The fourth had run away.

* * *

The explanation of the tragedy, as you can guess, is "bootleg whisky." All such whisky is poisonous, the sort sold to laborers is murderously poisonous.

What the law will do to that father is uncertain. What it will do to those who sold him the liquor is nothing.

* * *

This election is important to politicians and especially to corporations. The people also are interested, although apparently many of them do not know it. When there is a queen here, or a big prize fight approaching, the people wake up, but not at elections.

In 16 states, about to elect senators, results are in doubt. These doubtful states run east and west from Massachusetts to Oregon, south to Arizona, north to Idaho.

* * *

Bigness has advantages and disadvantages. This country is so big that outside of presidential elections there is little united action in politics. One section does not know what the other one wants.

Textile workers in New England cannot share the trobles of wheat farmers in North Dakota. There is not much pulling together.

* * *

Our smaller neighbor, Mars older, probably wiser than we, swings close to our earth. Between October 27 and November 4, the red planet will be only 43,000,000 miles away.

* * *

Astronomers eagerly await the close approach to study once more the canals so much discussed, and possibilities of intelligent life on the planet.

Tens of millions of years hence, our earth may need such artificial canals, to hold the waters of our oceans. The globe's whirling motion, mountain tops worn by frost, washed down by rain and melting snow, rivers washing soil into the oceans, constantly make the earth more and more nearly round.

When the earth becomes quite round, with no deep valleys to hold the ocean's water, men will have to dig artificial oceans or canals here, as some think they have already done on Mars. Failing that, the round earth will be completely covered with water, four miles deep, and there would be no life but fish life.

* * *

That need not discourage your buying real estate, for it is a long way off. But it makes the doings of the Maritians theoretically interesting. Baring a cataclysm in space, this earth will last hundreds of millions of years longer, and men will perform wonderful engineering feats in time.

* * *

In the earth's life a million years mean little, for this globe is already thousands of millions of years old, and man's rule of it has just started. When science tells you that dinosaurs ruled the earth for about nine million years, and then mysteriously died out, you can easily believe that men will rule for at least a hundred million years. What will they accomplish in that time?

We are only twelve thousand years from the late stone age, and already we fly and have abandoned cannibalism.

For more than fifty years Mr. Scott has been editor of The Manchester Guardian and for nearly half that period he has been the governing director of that journal, which is one of the best known and most influential newspapers in the British Empire. Dr. Crane's Editorial

OCTROI

We have all sorts of pernicious schemes of taxation in the United States. We levy a tax upon thrift; we burden production, and set a premium upon extravagance; we seem wholly committed to the Bolshevistic theory of the income tax, and we so far have refused to accept the theory of the much more rational sales tax; we have turned our backs upon the single taxers.

And yet we have something to be thrankful for.

There is a device in Europe that is particularly aggravating which so far we have escaped. It is another ingenious Robin Hood and pestiferous method of the government for wringing money out of the people. It is called the octroi.

It means that a tax is levied upon all produce that is brought into the city.

In addition to having tax collectors at the ports where goods are brought in from foreign countries, they have tax collectors at the gates of the city who industriously examine all carts and wagons and levy a few cents' tax on every pound of beef and every bundle of vegetables.

The amount paid of course is quite insignificant, but it is none the less annoying.

The question must occur to a man up a tree why governments when they want money should not ask the people directly for it instead of using such round-about methods as tariffs and income tax and octroi.

The only answer seems to be that nobody wants to pay taxes at all, and the most successful tax is the one that is levied most indirectly.

Taxing seems to be a matter regulated on the Robin Hood theory, which consists of despoiling those who have and sparing those who have not.

No pretense is made that this is just. The only pretense is that those who have plenty ought not to squeal. They are lucky to have money wherewith to pay the taxes.

The result is that we tax industry and production, whereas we should tax prodigality and expenditure.

The octroi seems to be the most ingeniously devilish method yet devolved for taxing the people.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

IT IS COMING.

Post Master General New announced October 15th that bids were to be invited within the next thirty day following from private contractors wishing to take over the Transcontinental and the Overnight New York-Chicago Air Mail Service. The bids, the Postmaster General explains, will be returnable sixty days from the date of the advertisement, to give those who wish to bid time to complete plans.

This announcement is a good sign of the times. It means first of all that the President of the United States and his Cabinet are determined that the Government shall not operate any business which should be operated by private capital, and which private capital can operate. It proves also that the Government is anxious and willing to assist private capital engaged, or who may desire to become engaged in the navigation of the air. Air mail service has come to stay. American Business has found that it was of very great profit to them to be able to reach by mail, it's destination overnight. The telegraph and the telephone may enable the business man to reach his distant connections more rapidly than air transportation, but neither the telephone nor the telegraph can bear the printed word, nor the written signature, to the man at the other end. The written word, and the signature on the dotted line is the thing for which American business is constantly looking.

The Post Master General in his statement says that "no company can successfully operate a commercial air service on a mail contract alone, but must also be prepared to transport passengers and express. It has never been the intention of the Postoffice Department," he says" to continue permanently the operation of the air mail service. It was planned merely to develop it, to a point where its feasibility and practicability could be adequately demonstrated, and as soon as commercial flying companies became strong enough to handle such an enterprise, to relinquish the fruits of the department's pioneering."

The Post Master General's Department has advanced flying in this country, and it may not now be long until the American will be able to take passage himself for his overnight trip from New York to Chicago, or his day longer trip to San Francisco. People living at or near the intermediate points on the great mail service routes will also be able to travel by plane. The Europeans are already doing it, but the Americans can always go the Europeans one better. On one day last August twenty five airplanes carried four hundred passengers from London to Paris for a round trip fare of approximately forty five dollars. That is but a scratch on the surface of what Americans will do.

As another sign of the times—Anthony H. G. Fokker, the Dutch inventor, who built Garmany's swift scout planes, during the War, has just taken out his first citizenship papers in the United States. He does this as he says, because he sees the United States the coming leader of the air.

POEMS HOME BY CHARLES HANSON TOWNE

"LINE UP, BRAVE BOYS!"
By Hamilton Garland

Mr. Garland is better known for his fiction and for that splendid autobiography which won the Pulitzer prize a few years ago. Yet like William Dean Howells, occasionally he has found poetry the best method to express a certain mood. Such a distinguished writer of prose could not possibly commit to paper indifferent verse. His lyric outpourings give one the sense of a vast vitality. It is a pity that he does not write more songs like this.

The packs are on, the cinches tight,
The patient horses wait,
Upon the grass the frost lies white,
The dawn is gray and late.
The leader's cry rings sharp and clear,
The camp-fires smoulder low;
Before us lies a shallow mere,
Beyond, the mountain snow.
"Line up, Billy, line up, boys,
The east is gray with coming day,
We must away, we cannot stay.
Hy-o, hy-ak, brave boys!"

Five hundred miles behind us lie;
As many more ahead,
Through mud and mire on mountains high
Our weary feet must tread.
So one by one, with loyal mind,
The horses swing to place,
The strong in lead, the weak behind,
In patient plodding grace.
"Hy-o, Buckskin, brave boy, Joe!
The sun is high,
The hid loons cry:
Hy-ak, away! Hy-o!"

ITALIAN M. E. CHURCH BOOTH GIVEN PRIZE

The New Castle district booth festival, in favor of St. Luke's hospital, Cleveland, held in Grove City Saturday, Oct. 23, awarded the second prize to the Italian Methodist Episcopal church of this city.

The award was made on the basis of value of donations, variety of articles exhibited and construction of the booth. Boy Scouts of troop 20 of Italian church collected and prepared the material under the leadership of Senior Patrol Leader James W. Charbonnier Jr., and presented a unique appearance among all others for its originality, being a substantial woodcraft stand of five sloping shelves, on which over one hundred and fifty jars, neatly labeled, were displayed. On a table were exhibited a large number of blankets, pillow cases, sheets and other hospital necessities. The value of the donations was set by the judges at $92.31.

This booth was also the recipient of the first prize, a five-dollar gold piece, for the most original display of a five-pound sack of flour, the donation of a local concern. Together with a few additional gifts already on hand, the total giving from this institution will reach the $100 mark.

This charitable endeavor was sponsored by the Epworth League and participated in by all the members of the congregation. Most of the donations, besides linens, were in the nature of quart jars of preserves, jellies, jams, vegetables, fruits, tomato paste and ketchup, all of the home-made variety.

The organizers were Mr. and Mrs. Nobile Di Lorenzo, seconded by a hard-working committee composed of Messrs. Agostino Giancola, Marino Sacripanti, Santo Di Placido, Alfred Fiala, Eugene Morelli, Nick Passaretti, Walter Pearl and Misses Elvira Gillest, Grace and Elizabeth Pearl, Olga Ludovici and Mabel Hutchison. The delegation to Grove City was led by Mr. and Mrs. N. Di Lorenzo and the minister, Rev. Dr. James Charbonnier, with Rev. and Mrs. Andrew Signore of Hillsville as visitors.

Former Local Man Makes New Record In Swine Raising

For the first time in the history of Chester White Swine breeding in the country, and for the first time in the mountains, a ton litter has been raised in the official time of 180 days.

The feat was accomplished by Frank Rohlf of Farmington, who yesterday weighed his litter of Chester White pigs, sired six months ago, and found that they weighed 2,006 pounds. The litter was originally bred by Owen Rohlf who is noted in the mountains for his breeding. Frank purchased them from him.

The smallest pig in the litter weighs 180 pounds, while the heaviest tips the scales at 224 pounds.

The actual feed cost of raising these swine was less than $100.

Frank Rohlf was formerly a well known resident of New Castle, Pa.

Makes Hair Behave But Doesn't SHOW!

There's a way to keep your hair just-so, without any of that objectionable, "plastered-down" look. Just use a few drops of Danderine—comb it through hair, or use a Danderine-dampened towel—you'll be amazed at the way your hair then behaves, and its beautiful lustre!

Any permanent wave or water wave lasts much longer and looks much nicer when Danderine is used instead of water to "set" the wave.

Of course, you know what Danderine does to dandruff! Dissolves every bit of it. Puts scalp in the pink of condition. Invigorates hair and hair-roots. Why use anything else?

All But $30,500 Of Missing Funds Found

Detectives Recover Nearly $300,000 Of Money Taken In Swindle

Five Bundles Containing Money Are Dug Up On Monday Afternoon

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 26.—Of the $320,000 which disappeared in the Brotherhood Savings and Trust company swindle here $30,500 remains unrecovered but detectives hope to find the missing money in safe deposit boxes, they announced today.

Detectives believe they will find the $30,500 in the safe deposit boxes of Charles E. Knapp held as the perpetrator of the swindle and Edward Goodfellow on whose property five bundles containing most of the money were dug up.

To Identify Partners.

The identity of many partners of Roland A. McCrady president of the Brotherhood bank in the huge pool formed for the purchase of "bargain bonds" from Knapp will be revealed for the first time when they claim their share of the recovered money.

Detectives will turn the recovered money over to the district attorney who will introduce it as evidence at the trial of Knapp and Goodfellow, they said. The court then will return it to its original owners provided they prove their claim in open court.

Knapp has not been informed of the recovery of the money.

Detectives expect to confront him today with this information in an effort to gain a complete admission from him. Until now he has insisted he was robbed of the money shortly after McCready turned it over to him for the bonds.

Goodfellow consented to reveal the place he had hidden the money after four hours of gruelling questioning by detectives. He led the officers to his garage, where several minutes of frantic digging finally unearthed the mud soaked packages.

The money was delivered to Goodfellow by Knapp shortly after the latter received it from McCrady, Goodfellow told police today. Knapp he said, came to his house late Friday, the day the swindle was perpetrated, and said that he (Knapp) had been in a "big deal" and had been unable to go to the bank before it closed.

Then, Goodfellow said, Knapp gave him the money for safekeeping, and that, fortified by a few drinks, he finally disposed of the huge sum by burying it back of his garage. Workmen, unaware of the treasure, subsequently threw tons of dirt over the cache, through which detectives were forced to dig to retrieve the money.

Goodfellow told police he knew Knapp only as "a man who was always talking 'big money'," and that he did not know in what manner Knapp came into possession of the $320,000.

The Easiest Way To End Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely, and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy never fails.

State Campaign In Final Week

Both Republican And Democratic Candidates Are Working Hard

FISHER WILL HAVE WIDE MARGIN, BELIEF

(From News Bureau State Capital.)

HARRISBURG, Oct. 26.—State and national candidates on both the Republican and Democratic parties are winding up their campaigns prior to the election November 2. While there seems to be a decided lack of interest this fall following the fever heat of the primary campaign the meetings addressed by the candidates from all reports are well attended.

The chief contenders are John S. Fisher, Republican candidate for governor and his running mate William S. Vare for senate who are being opposed by Judge Eugene C. Bonniwell for governor and William B. Wilson for senate on the Democratic side. While there are other tickets in the field the fight will be between the nominees of the two major parties.

Most political observers agree that Senator Fisher will run away ahead of his colleague Congressman Vare. In the primary Mr. Vare while only carrying Philadelphia and Dauphin counties managed to beat out Senator Pepper by about 81,000 votes and Governor Pinchot was a poor third. Mr. Vare will probably carry more than that number of counties in the genral election but Senator Fisher wil run far ahead according to the belief of many for in certain parts of the state the Philadelphian is not going over any too strong with the rural voters. Both the Republican candidates will win according to the belief of most observers.

Mr. Wilson the Democratic senatorial nominee is making a strong bid for the office and will pull many votes from Vare if reports are true. The same can be said of Mr. Fisher who will receive a number of votes from Democrats while the Philadelphia jurist will not be slighted by Republicans of moist inclinations. On the whole the campaign has been quiet and nothing sensational is expected between now and next Tuesday.

Senator Reed Makes Attack On Endorsement

Fires Broadside At President's Endorsement Of Senator Butler

(International News Service)

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 26.—A political whirlwind swirled here today after Senator "Jim" Reed, Democrat of Missouri, featured his departure for St. Louis with an attack upon President Coolidge's endorsement of Senator William M. Butler in the Massachusetts senatorial race.

Reed charged Butler had always "served the big financial interests of the country" while in the Senate, "while there has been no greater champion of the people and of honesty and fairness in government than David I. Walsh".

"I am willing to bet my hat that if Senator Butler is re-elected", Reed said "he will vote to seat Vare from Pennsylvania and Smith from Illinois if they receive majorities, without regard to any evidence which has been or may be produced touching upon fraud or corruption in those states".

Reed declared the President, in endorsing Butler, had violated his precedents of letting "other Republican candidates, who were in trouble, take the consequences".

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST

INTERRUPTED

I think, little lady of four,
As you beg me to romp on the floor,
What would Caesar have done
With a war just begun,
With a charmer like you at his door?

Just to spare you a frown or a tear
He'd have given you his shield and his spear,
He'd have sent out this word:
"There'll be no war today!
I intended to fight, but my babe wants to play."

He'd never have conquered in Gaul
Had he been at your beck and your call,
Had you been his child
He'd have turned meek and mild
As your little feet raced down the hall;

And once you got into his room,
Which they say he kept shrouded in gloom,
You'd have driven away all his will to be great,
He'd have played as I play, saying:
"Let the war wait."

But Caesar fought year after year
Letting nothing with him interfere.
For he never knew
Such a charmer as you,
All he had was his brillant career;
Never laughing and tapping there came to his door
A blue-eyed and rosy-cheeked baby of four;
It was easy for Caesar to work night and day
For he had no baby determined to play.

Let the childless be famous and great,
Let old bachelors govern the state,
Let the Caesars command
And make war in the land,
I'll go down to a happier fate.
'Tis enough from this world I have had
Little girl, to be known as your dad,
So climb onto my knee and we'll frolic and play
And the work I should do won't be finished today.

Somerville Prepares For Famous Trial In Hall-Mills Case

JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Oct. 26.—With the famous Hall-Mills murder trial only a few days away, Somerville, a typical American town of some 6,000 population, is making eager preparations for its big moment when it will bask in the full glare of the international spotlight.

To say the town is on the qui vive is putting it mildly. Somerville seems determined to outclass Dayton, Tenn., of "monkey trial" famous fame, or Shelby, Mont., where the Dempsey-Gibbons fight was staged, when it comes to reveling in first-page advertising.

Today in Somerville there is one subject of conversation—the Hall-Mills murder trial.

Strangers in town instinctively realize that something extraordinary is on tap; that the natives are not quite themselves. Somerville's big moment is coming and the town is making the most of it. You can get a single room at a hotel without bath for $10 a day. Hotel rooms or rooms in private families are harder to get at almost any price than accommodations in Philadelphia the night before the recent Dempsey-Tunney battle.

Already this normally quiet pretty little town, with its handsome courthouse, rather busy Main street and attractive residences, has been jostled out of its customary calm by the faithful band of forty-odd reporters who for weeks have been on the go keeping the Hall-Mills story "alive" until the hour comes when the wealthy Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall, and her two brothers, "Willie" and Henry Stevens, will be placed on trial charged with the murder of the Rev. Edward Hall and Mrs. Eleanor R. Mills, his choir singer sweetheart, near New Brunswick, four years ago.

These reporters feel they have done their bit. They have kept the story out on page one off and on for weeks and weeks and now that the trial date is almost here there will be no keeping it off the front page. They have been running down this rumor and that for so long that they automatically investigate anything and all things that have to do with the case. It is even related that one of these reporters takes himself so seriously that he has been behaving in the best accepted Sherlock Holmesian manner, going about these parts in various disguises and carrying upon his person a magnifying glass with which to examine the clews.

For the most part, however, the reporters who are holding the fort, are making arrangements for and awaiting the arrival of the army of journalistic "trained seals", star writers, authors, criminologists and others who are being assigned by the metropolitan newspapers to cover the trial.

Four newspapers already have leased Somerville homes for the duration of the trial for the use of their staffs. One newspaper has rented all the available rooms in one of the Main street hotels. Telegraph instruments are clicking a strange music in a dozen different parts of town. Every new reporter who comes to town tries to devise some way to get the end of the telegraph wire under the judge's death with or without his knowledge, but he will have none of it. There won't be a single telegraph instrument on the courtroom floor, which is on the second floor of the dazzling marble county court house. The press association wires will be on the floor below and the floor above and all the other "special" wires—scores of them—will be in the basement. The basement is beginning to resemble the bottom of Madison Square Garden during the last Democratic national convention.

"You fellows (the newspaper men) should have had the sesqicentennial stadium for this trial," said an attache of the court to this writer when he went to see about courtroom and press arrangements.

And it's almost a fact. There are 74 seats available for the press in the little courtroom and already more than 200 apparently bonafide applications for them have been received. The five members of the "press committee" in charge of the arrangements, are a harassed lot indeed. One and all of them are ready and willing to throw up the jobs at a moment's notice. Somerville's "big show" is getting to be almost too big for them.

But not for Somerville! The town's ready for the big event.

MOTHER OF SEVEN CHILDREN

Helped in Caring for them by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Glasgow, Ky.—"I am the mother of seven children, the eldest being only 12 years, and I feel that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has helped to pull me through the roughest places of my married life. At one time I was so downhearted that life was a misery. A friend in Indianapolis, Indiana, told me of the Vegetable Compound, and after taking a few bottles of it I became myself again and it was a pleasure to do my housework and gardening. Since then I always use your medicine when I feel weak from overwork and it straightens me out."—Mrs. Melissa Barders, Route 2, care of O. F. Steenbergen, Glasgow, Ky.

New Orleans, La.—"I could not do a thing after my first boy was born. I was so weak, I had no appetite, lost weight and was not able to do my work. I was this way for seven weeks, then I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and got wonderful results from it."—Mrs. C. Faurie, 4014 Dauphine St., New Orleans, La.

The W. J. Offutt Co.

Has stood before the public, an institution built upon confidence, strict integrity and fair dealing—stating the truth in its advertising—selling only good dependable merchandise priced as low as conditions would permit. Always inculcating to its employes the necessity of truthfully representing the merchandise offered for sale. From the very first The W. J. Offutt Co. advocated these principals. Always among the leaders in firmly establishing the tenets of high and scrupulous frankness in business and maintaining this leadership all these years.

Only a few things improve with age! SERVICE being continuously rendered for many years becomes better each day, as a result of studying a community's needs. QUALITY and SERVICE go hand in hand. A firm may be ever so courteous—ever so anxious to please but unless its merchandise is of dependable quality its service does not count for much. Quality plus service has been and always will be this store's ideal.

Being conscious now of our responsibility, we say to you in all sincerity, that this sale, beginning right at the beginning of the Fall and Winter season will be one that will prove to be the SALE OF SALES, without parallel or precedent, it will not be a sale of a few articles picked out here and there but embraces every department—nothing reserved. Everything will be in readiness for your coming on Thursday.

Round Will Be Parade Marshal

Mayor Dunlap Announces Appointment Of Hallowe'en Parade Marshal

Reports from all sides indicate that the community Hallowe'en celebration next Monday is going over big. With favorable weather there will be thousands of mummers in line for the parade and good time and also in competition for the many prizes which it is expected will be available for the occasion.

Mayor William H. Dunlap announced this morning that L. B. round had accepted the important post of marshal of the parade. His aides will be announced in the near future.

The big feature will be the dance for the mummers after the parade, which it is expected will be held in good time so as to allow dancing to the music furnished by Noble's Pennsylvanians, which have been furnished for the occasion through the courtesy of J. A. Appleton, superintendent of E. & A. division of the Pennsylvania railroad.

The high school, Ben Franklin and Croton bands will furnish music for the parade.

The quest for funds and prizes was given impetus yesterday by the announcement that the Chamber of Commerce and its affiliated organizations were in favor of the community Hallowe'en celebration and a fine list of prizes now seems assured as well as funds with which to meet the necessary expenses. P. L. Hogue has been authorized to seek prizes and funds. Those desiring to give prizes or funds should do so without delay so that those in charge may know just how far they can go.

Makes Long Flight Across Country Despite Several Broken Bones

(International News Service)

MITCHEL FIELD, N. Y., Oct. 26.—James Montee, 64, who despite two broken ribs and a fractured colarbone piloted an aeroplane here from San Antino, Texas, in order to satisfy his life's ambition of making a transcontinental flight, was resting in the Mitchel Field hospital here today, weak but happy.

Montee who lives in Los Angeles is the oldest commercial pilot in the United States. During his years of flying on the Pacific coast, the urge grew within him to fly across the Rockies, and on October 17 last he left Los Angeles in a Douglas observation plane accompanied by Lieut. Donald Fritch.

While at San Antonio Montee was struck by a motorcycle and sustained a fractured collarbone and two broken ribs. Coming out of the ether he pushed hospital attendants aside and resumed the flight despite the protests of Fritch and physicians.

Offfcers here gave the veteran a royal reception when he arrived. Montee smilingly alighted and his dream a reality, consented to being taken to the hospital. He will return to the coast after recovering from his injuries.

Home-made Remedy Stops Cough Quickly

Finest cough medicine you ever used. Family supply easily made. Saves about $2.

You might be surprised to know that the best thing you can use for a severe cough, is a remedy which is easily prepared at home in just a few moments. It's cheap, but for prompt results it beats anything else you ever tried. Usually stops the ordinary cough or chest cold in 24 hours. Tastes pleasant—children like it, and it is pure and good.

Pour 2½ ounces of Pinex in a pint bottle; then fill it up with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or use clarified honey, instead of sugar syrup. Thus you make a full pint—a family supply—but costing no more than a small bottle of ready-made cough syrup.

And as a cough medicine, there is really nothing better to be had at any price. It goes right to the spot and gives quick, lasting relief. It promptly heals the inflamed membranes that line the throat and air passages, stops the annoying throat tickle, loosens the phlegm, and soon your cough stops entirely. Splendid, too, for bronchitis, hoarseness and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway pine extract and palatable guaiacol, famous for healing the membranes.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Resume Hearing In Coal Complaint

Coal Operators Complain Of Unfair Rates On Coal To Lakes

I. C. C. MEMBERS HEAR TESTIMONY

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—As the interstate commerce commission resumed the hearing on the complaint of Pennsylvania coal operators against alleged unfair freight rates on lake cargoes today, there seemed little likelihood of a decision before late this winter or early next spring.

The preseat hearing may last two weeks or more, spokesmen said, if a decision is reached to enter rebuttal testimony into the records of the commission.

J. B. L. Hornberger, vice president of the Pittsburgh Coal company, was to testify at today's session. His testimony was to be of a technical nature. Other officials of the Pittsburgh Coal company will be here during the hearing, but only Hornberger and W. P. Buffington, traffic manager, were expected to testify.

The answer of the Pittsburgh interests to the reported threat of West Virginia spokesmen to cancel huge orders placed in the Pittsburgh district in reprisal for the energetic action of business interests in Pittsburgh in seeking lower freight rates were answered with the terse statement: "Go ahead."

Representatives of the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce here said they valued the business of the West Virginia operators, but said they regarded the interests of the local coal operators as more essential than the business of southern operators.

After all Pittsburgh witnesses have testified the commission will hear representatives of the coal carriers before the southern operators present their case.

Pennsylvania men attending the hearing include G. C. Areford, Uniontown, Fayette-Green Coal Producers' association; J. T. Carbine, coal traffic manager, Pennsylvania railroad, and J. L. O'Toole, superintendent of transportation, Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad.

Cars Are Parked Too Near Street Corners, Police Say

Mayor William H. Dunlap and Chief of Police Henry Dysart announced this morning that the habit of motorists in parking near street intersections has created a dangerous situation in the traffic situation here.

In an effort to eliminate this condition, which has been the cause of many accidents recently, orders have been issued to police officers of the city to tag all machines found parked at or near street intersections.

A fine of $3 will be imposed for the first offense and if this does not prove effective, the police are under instructions to have the machines found too near street intersections taken to some local garage and placed in storage. In these cases, the owner of the machine will find it necessary to not only pay a fine but also for the storage of their machines.

Warm Clothing Sought By Mission

With the first visit of cold weather to New Castle considerable demand has been made upon the City Rescue Mission, 17 South Mercer street, for warm clothing by those who do not have it. Especially is this true of children's clothing, the call being for underwear and shoes in particular.

All kinds of children's clothes are needed as well as shoes and overcoats for adults. Any residents of the city who have clothing that has been discarded by them but still is whole and can be worn, can dispose of it by sending it to the City Rescue Mission or calling the mission and it will be called for.

With the constant demand for clothing of all kinds your discarded clothing will be used to protect someone less fortunate.

Today representaives of the police and fire departments volunteered to continue until January 1, on payment vouchers which will be honored early next year.

Court Decision Far-Reaching

President Is Given Great Power By Decree Of Supreme Court

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—Far-reaching powers to remove federal officials at will, and without cause, if he desires, were lodged with the President today as result of the supreme court's decision in the Myers case.

The court held that the President could remove appointees without consent of the Senate, even though the Senate had previously consented to the appointments.

Some Washington constitutional lawyers said that the decision opened the way for re-establishment of a widespread "spoils system", under which appointees of political faith opposite from the President could be "kicked out" to make room for friends and officials favorable at all times to the executive's policies.

Except over civil service employes and a few judges, the court declared, by a six to three decision, that the President's power of removal was final, that the Senate was powerless to intervene.

There was talk in Washington today of a move to wipe out this power through a constitutional amendment.

"THANK YOU" SAVES 541 HOURS PER DAY

CHICAGO, Oct. 26.—Chicago telephone girls are saving 541 hours and 45 minutes a day by saying "Thank you" instead of repeating the subscriber's number.

The Bell telephone bureau of statistics figured that from four to eight seconds were lost on each call when the subscriber's number was repeated. As the girls answer 3,500,000 calls a day, the total saving is equal to the time it would take Gertrude Ederle to swim the channel almost 38 times.

NURSE'S TRIAL IS CONTINUING

West Virginia Nurse Is Being Tried On Charge Of Poisoning Her Employer

(International News Service)

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Oct. 26—The prosecution in the trial of Mrs. Georgia Ridgeway, nurse, accused of murdering Dr. W. B. Borror, her employer, at his office here, today planned to introduce the balance of its evidence before Judge I. Grant Lazzelle in an effort to rest its case tomorrow.

Mrs. Rose Hastings, clerk for Dr. Borror, featured the opening day of testimony when she testified that the accused woman fled from the doctor's office screaming, "I've done it—I've done it!"

Following Mrs. Hastings' testimony, the court, jury and officials, followed by a thousand spectators went to the scene of the slaying, where the prosecution illustrated its conception of the crime.

Counsel for Mrs. Ridgeway has not as yet indicated what the woman's defense will be.

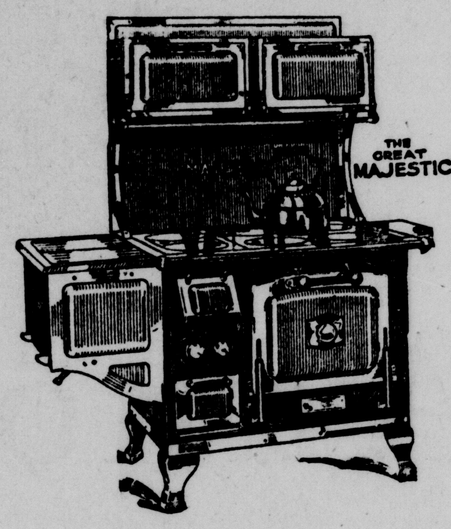

A crowded courtroom greeted the opening of court today, the audience, largely women, having brought its lunches prepared to spend the day in the room.

Great Majestic Walking Cake

This cake is 7 in. high and 18 in. square. It will be placed between two heavy boards and 12 ladies are invited to stand on it at one time, completely crushing it. Like the old saying, "Crushed to earth—will rise again," it comes immediately back to its former height. The airtight oven in the Majestic retains the moisture, which is again absorbed by the cake, being the reason why it rises to its former size. The cake will then be cut and served with hot coffee to those present. Certain slices will contain numbers—these will receive prizes.

This cake will be baked in the Majestic Range at our demonstration, and is another proof of the wonderful baking which can easily be done with the Great Majestic Range because of the air-tight asbestos-lined oven and the cast iron lined fire-box. We bake and cook in the Majestic Range all week with a paper stove pipe, which proves that the heat is kept in the oven instead of being driven up the chimney.

ATLANTIC GASOLINE
ETHYL
ETHYL GASOLINE CORPORATION NEW YORK, U.S.A.
Knocks out that "knock"

Announcing

ATLANTIC Ethyl Gasoline

ANSWERING the demand for a fuel that is especially adapted to prevent the knock in a carboned engine or in engines that perform best on an anti-knock fuel, we announce Atlantic Ethyl Gasoline. It is the splendid new Atlantic Gasoline, everywhere hailed as the finest all-round gasoline on the market, with the addition of Ethyl Brand of Anti-knock Compound—the element developed by General Motors Research Laboratories.

Atlantic Ethyl Gasoline is especially recommended for use—

In heavily carboned motors, and in engines which accumulate carbon quickly.

In motors which have a pronounced tendency to knock.

In motors which, through long usage, are losing power.

In motors burdened with excessive loads.

In motors operating in hilly country and through heavy traffic.

And for the sport-loving motorist who likes the thrill of super-power at his instant command.

Under these conditions Atlantic Ethyl Gasoline is well worth the extra cost of three cents a gallon. Drive up to the pump with the Atlantic Ethyl Gasoline sign and give this new fuel a trial. You will find it on sale, together with regular Atlantic Gasoline, at Atlantic service stations and at Atlantic dealers.

Start Fund To Aid Family Made Destitute By Recent Explosion

Without a place of their own to sleep, their clothing destroyed, and without funds with which to purchase even the necessities of life, the family of James Ross, consisting of the parents and four small children, Nancy, aged eight; Frank, aged six; Albert, aged four, and Teresa, aged three, whose home at 306 East Lutton street, was blown up in some mysterious manner last Friday morning, are entirely dependent on the charity of the city and friends of the unfortunate at the present time.

In an effort to alleviate their situation and give them an opportunity of getting on a self-sustaining basis again, Ira M. Ramsey, city treasurer, and E. S. Stevenson, plumbing inspector, started a fund this morning with gifts of $5 each, which it is hoped will be augmented by friends of the unfortunate to such an extent as to enable them to get a start to recover from their present unfortunate condition and begin all over again.

Since the fund was inaugurated this morning it has grown to $24, and hopes are entertained that it will reach a considerable amount as soon as the real need is known.

The home is a complete wreck. If rebuilt it is in the fire zone which requires the construction of a brick building. The Ross property was mortgaged and debts unpaid amounted in all to more than $2,300. They have no reserve funds for any purpose. These obligations must be met and there is not a cent to do it with.

The father, James Ross, is willing to work, but is crippled up as a result of the terrible experience of himself and family, so that he cannot at present work. The family found it necessary to apply to the city this morning for funds with which to purchase the bare necessities of life.

Then there are the doctor bills of several hundred dollars incurred in the past year by the continued sickness of little Albert, aged four. He has undergone four operations in the side, where there is a puss formation owing to complications arising from pneumonia. He still has a drainage tube in the side and is worse by reason of the fact that when thrown from his bedroom to the cellar by the explosion, this tube was dislodged.

The mother is wearing donated clothing, a dress from one source, shoes from another, stockings from still another. They are sleeping on mattresses on the floor of Mrs. Ross' father's home.

It is one of the most pitiable cases that has come to the attention of the poor authorities of this district in some time. It is necessary that aid of some kind other than the poor district is able to give be done.

Donations for this purpose may be left with Ira M. Ramsey, city treasurer, who has been designated as treasurer of the funds secured.

Funds left at The News will be turned over to Mr. Ramsey.

The donations, totaling $25, were as follows: Ira M. Ramsey, $5; E. S. Stephenson, $5; D. O. Davies, $2; T. W. Dickey, $2; F. F. Miller, $1; J. L. Moseley, 50c; George H. Andrews, 50c; Charles Lynn, 50c; Neal Williams, 50c; W. L. Burns, 50c; A. L. Porter, $1; C. H. McMillen, $1; Phil Greer, $1; E. B. Reeves, $15; L. M. Perry, 50c; Henry Dysart, $1; E. J. Berquist, $1; George W. Conway, $1.

Ex-Service Men To Get Together

Event Is Scheduled For Legion Home On Wednesday Night

ENTERTAINMENT IS BEING ARRANGED

"Ten thousand gobs laid down their swabs, to lick a sick Marine." Perhaps you recall that little ditty that was popular among certain branches of ex-service men during the war.

Or this one, "The infantry, artillery and blooming engineers could never expect to be cavalrymen in a hundred thousand years." Or Hinky Dinky Parley Vous.

All these and a dozen other service songs will be sung Wednesday night, October 27, when the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars are holding an Ex-service Get Together in the Legion Home on North Jefferson street.

Buck And Shavetail

Buck and shavetail, doughboy and god, shovel shiners and leathernecks will be present and nary a one of them will rank or rate the other. The purpose of the Get Together is to stimulate the fall and winter activities among ex-service men and the committee in charge has beaucoup tricks up their sleeve for entertainment.

Of course there will be eats. Plen—ty, and an armful of smokes, and all of it just as free as a top sergeant's advice to a fatigue detail.

There will be some entertainment, music and instrumental numbers, a couple of speeches on "How I Won The War," and the same camaraderie that marked a crap game down back of the picket line.

The committee in charge is Cal Leslie, Ralph Montgomery, John Stoner, William Fleming and Ivor Davis. The boys knew their I. D. R. during the war, and they know their entertainment stuff now. Every ex-service man in Lawrence county is not only invited but urged to attend. Assembly blows at 8:00 o'clock and the mess line drill will be in order some time later.

By the numbers, one, two, three, four.

C. W. McKEE

Will Present Local Course In Accounting and Financial Statements.

C. W. McKee, Professor of Economics and Business Administration at Westminster College, who taught Standard Economics, as the concluding course in the adopted curriculum of the American Institute of Banking, and conferred degrees on the graduates of that four year course, is considering a request for a course in accounting and Financial Statements, in New Castle.

Professor McKee is a graduate of Ottawa University, Ottawa, Kansas. After graduation he was salesman and later sales manager for the Thompson-Mayfield Pub. Co., K. C., Mo. Mr. McKee resigned that position to do graduate work in the school of Commerce and Business Administration at the University of Chicago, where he spent three years studying the functional fields of business, viz. Marketing, Finance, Accounting, Labor, and Production; supplemented by Economic Theory and Law.

Mr. McKee received his M. A. in Managerial Accounting, i. e., accounting from the standpoint of the executive rather than from the standpoint for the professional accountant. And in view of the complexity of modern business and income tax executives and internal accountants the country over are realizing the importance of a knowledge of accounting records and Financial Statements.

Professor McKee is going to conduct a meeting Wednesday evening, October 27, at the North Street Junior High School, 7:30 p. m. for the purpose of discussing the feasibility of such a course in New Castle.—Adv.

Mystery Comedy At Capitol Plus Three Clever Acts

You probably saw the "Bat", and you undoubtedly have seen plenty of comedies, but the chances are against your having ever seen a picture which combined the mystery of the "Bat" and the laughing qualities of a good comedy. Murders are done, or seem to be, Scotland Yard is on the job, and Monte Blue goes to jail in "The Man Upstairs" playing the Capitol today and tomorrow. With him is Dorothy Devore and a splendid cast. You'll have to see the picture to appreciate it.

Three good acts add to the pleasure of the Capitol bill. The Stine Four, a family of versatile youngsters have a singing and dancing act that seems certainly headed for big time. Marcine, the girl in the act is as graceful as a sylph and as agile as a young antelope. Her brothers, Charles, Jerry and Selmore are not far behind with some dancing and musical numbers that mark the act as one of the best in the Capitol this season.

Barry and Osborne have a singing and dancing act also, but of a different variety. The pair have a personality to their act that carries it out beyond the orchestra pit into the laps of the audience.

Louise Mayo does a single singing act that is a review of some old and new popular songs. Very good. The bill is one of merit, has plenty of everything you want in an entertainment line and will please you.

Looked Like Skeleton Says New Castle Man

"Joe Is Going to Die", Friends Said of Mr. Joe Anderson, 118 Shenango Street, City. Suffered Horribly From Gas and Dizzy Spells.

"Joe is going to die," my friends were all saying, but I am now one of the livest men I know, so I don't reckon I'd be far wrong to claim World's Tonic has saved my life," is characteristic statement made, recently, by Joe Anderson, employed at Carnegie Steel Co.

"Stomach trouble pulled me down to almost a skeleton. I suffered horribly from the gas on my stomach and would have such blinding dizzy spells that I would fall right down. Great sores broke out on my hip and legs, and like my friends, I thought sure this would be the end of me. I got but little sleep and was very nervous.

"It certainly was lucky for me that I got World's Tonic, for after taking two bottles I was back on the job and calling myself a well man. I have gained thirty-five pounds, and am feeling fine and five bottles of World's Tonic did it."

Grandmother's Age

Looks like a girl of 19

By Edna Wallace Hopper

Mine is a grandmother's age. My life has been spent in the limelight. Yet I am still a stage star, still a beauty, still a girl. Thousands who see me daily marvel at my youthful bloom. Countless young girls envy my hair and complexion.

I sailed on Steamer Homeric, June 12, 1926, for my 35th trip to France. I go there every year to keep in intimate touch with the latest beauty discoveries.

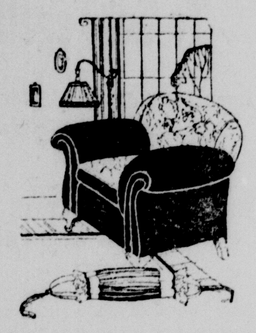

I have searched the world for beauty aids. The best I found were produced by French experts. I became by their help a famous beauty, gained a glorious career. They have preserved my beauty, kept my youth, as all who see me know.

Now I am placing these helps at every woman's call. Toilet counters everywhere supply them in my name. Every girl and woman who desires may use exactly what I use, and at a modest cost.

WANDER COMES THROUGH CLEAR

Well for the Dog whose way lay westward that his muscles were strong as whipcords and his wind long, for rough and weary was his road. Up hill and down hill and up hill again trotted he until in the distance he spied the green of the forests. At sight of them he took fresh courage, quickened his steps and soon reached the forest's outer edge.

What met him there!

Trees that hadn't grown fast enough when they were young and before they had shot up out of reach had been caught by clinging vines. Behind the low trees and among them were great trees, trees so tall that they seemed to be standing on tiptoes trying to reach the sky. Over the trees, both large and small, ran brambles that put out sharp thorns to the world and dared anyone to come near them.

You and I, babes o' mine, would have thought many's the time before stepping foot in such a place. For we would say to ourselves, suppose we did get in without being torn to pieces, how in the name of O'Holligan would we get out again?

That Dog of Long Ago (and his name was Wander) was delighted at the sight, brambles and all.

"Woof, wow, wow!" yelped he joyfully. "Home lies over yonder". And without pausing longer he plunged into the thicket.

His keen eye had caught sight of an opening, and through it he wiggled without so much as a scratch. His coat, rough as it was, was more like wire than fur. While it protected him burrs and stickers found it a poor thing to hang to and let it alone. So out of the thicket and into the green forest Wander came through clear!

Next: Through the Green Forest.

Over 1500 Workmen Killed In State During 9 Months

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Pa., Oct. 26.—During the first nine months of the year 1,577 workmen were killed in the state in the course of their employment, according to a summary of reports made public today by the State Department of Labor and Industry. In the same period 132,347 workmen were injured.

Compared with the same period in 1925 there was a reduction of ten in the number of fatal accidents and a reduction of 3,156 in non-fatal accidents. Although accidents in industries have shown a slight decrease, the totals for the entire year are expected to exceed those of 1925 because of the greater activity in the mining industry and several large disasters in the bituminous fields.

Accidents in trading establishments showed the largest increase for the nine-month period, the per cent of fatal accidents being 130 and the per cent in non-fatal accidents 17. Manufacturing industries showed a 5 per cent decrease while transportation and public utility companies were 16 per cent lower.

Grouped under cause classification accident increases were due chiefly to pumps, compressors, cars and engines, motor vehicles, electricity, falls of persons and stepping upon or striking objects.

Under the same classifications the decreases were in power transmission, horse drawn vehicles, hand trucks, handling objects, hand tools and hot and corrosive substances.

HOTEL MAN FINDS TREASURE; NOT KIDD'S

BRANT BEACH, Oct. 26—While excavators have dug in vain, all summer, for trace of Captain Kidd's fabled treasure, supposed to be buried under Brant Beach sand dunes, a brief clamming expedition in the bay brought Ernest Peirce, a local hotel man, a jewel probably equal to any in the pirate's lost collection.

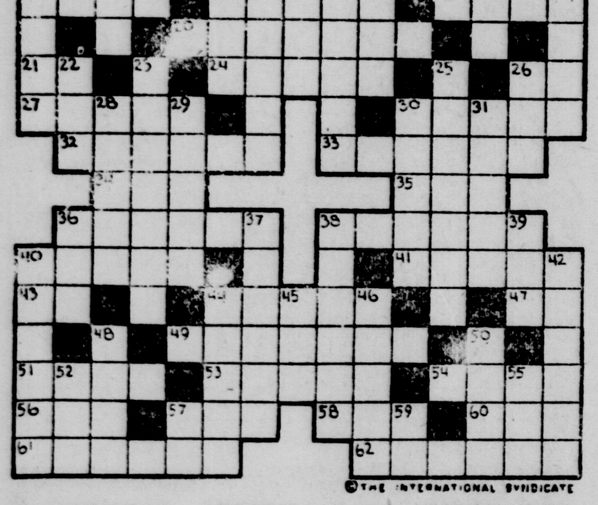

Opening the clams, Peirce dislodged what looked like a pebble, but upon closer examination he found it was a rare and perfectly formed "cat's eye pearl." Jewelers have offered $1500 for the pearl and $5000 for the pair if he can find one to match it.

BUSH TO HAVE COMPLETE CONTROL OF PIRATES

To Appoint His Own Assistants

As Manager Of Indianapolis He Led Team To Second Place Three Times

MANAGED SENATORS FOR ONE SEASON

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 26.—"The new manager will be in complete authority and will pick his own aides", Barney Dreyfuss, owner of the Pittsburgh Pirates, said today ,commenting upon his selection of Owen J. (Donie) Bush as the new Pirate manager.

"Bush is known as a hustler", Dreyfuss said. "He knows baseball thoroughly and is a man of excellent character. We will co-operate with him in every way."

Succeeds McKechnie

Bush, who comes here from Indianapolis, where he managed an American Association team for three years, each year landing the club in second place, will direct the Pirates from the bench. His contract is for one year and was signed after Dreyfuss had considered a score of condidates.

The new Pirate manager succeeds "Bill" McKechnie, who was ousted after an unsuccessful season in which much club dissension cropped out. Bush played shortstop for the Detroit Tigers for many seasons, being made manager of the Washington Senators in 1923, a post he relinquished after a year.

Bush is 38 years old.

Los Angeles Makes Bid For Gridiron Classic

By ROY CUMMINGS
I. N. S. Special Correspondent.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 26.—The 1926 football classic looms for the golden state of California and the sunny city of Los Angeles.

On December 4, Coach Knute Rockne will unleash his Notre Dame football team against the "Terrible Trojans" of the University of Southern California.

As far as the western entry for the classic is concerned, it today seems certain that it will be an undefeated eleven when it faces the Notre Dame team.

Coach Howard Jones, once famous in old Iowa and now the most popular hero of "New" Iowa, has whipped together a powerful eleven at U. S. C.

The Thundering Herd started the 1926 season far ahead of any eleven on the Pacific coast. Material was there and it is material that has forced veterans of two years standing to the bench.

Greater Than Rockne's Team.

Adam Walsh, who was the captain of the Four Horsemen team of Notre Dame and now coach of the University of Santa Clara eleven, declares that the Southern California eleven is greater than Rockne's 1924 Notre Dame eleven.

The Trojans have caught the "shift" too.

Coach Jones has devised his own style of dancing and every man on his team shifts on each play.

The Trojans cut wide open in their play.

Drury, Laranetta, Kaer, Williams and Heiser are all triple threat backs with a punch.

Drury is the power in the Trojan machine and is hailed as an all-American fullback.

A powerful line supports the backfield.

Cravath the center, is one of the greatest ever seen on the Pacific coast. Gorrell and Taylor, guards, have been chosen as all coast players for the past two years.

Hand Picked Schedule.

Hibbs, freshman captain in 1925, is playing at tackle on the first varsity. He is one of those stalwart husky type of linesman who can do anything. He is a wall on defense and a marvel of speed on the offensive play.

The Trojans have a hand picked schedule in the Pacific coast conference race and should get by rather easily.

At the start of the season, California and Stanford appeared to be the only games on their schedule. The Bears have already faltered and Stanford is finding it difficult to beat second rate teams.

Great Trojan teams have always been the thing on the Pacific coast but they never managed to survive a season without defeat.

Overconfidence is spoken of as a U. S. C. tradition and Coach Howard Jones is fighting it as his toughest enemy.

SLIGHT CHANGES IN BASKETBALL

Eight Revisions In Rules Have Been Made By Cage Solons

Eight changes of minor importance were made in the basketball rules for the season of 1926-1927, inasmuch as the campaign will soon be underway—teams are already lining up strong for the title chase— a glimpse at these changes is interesting at this time so here they are:

No. 1—A diameter is drawn in the center circle parallel to the end lines.

No. 2.—Thirteen pounds pressure is recommended as a satisfactory inflation for the valve ball which permits the use of an air gauge.

No. 3—If an injury takes place while the ball is in play the officials are to withhold their whistles until a play has been completed by a throw for goal, held ball out of bounds, loss of possession of the ball or withholding it from play.

No. 4—The umpire is given authority to disqualify players for flagrant unsportsmanlike conduct.

No. 5.—When the ball is tossed up at center the jumpers may stand on or inside their half of the circle; that is, their feet are not required to be entirely inside but one or both feet may touch the circle—heel, toe or any part.

No. 6—Time out shall not be granted for a subsitution or at the request of a captain after the ball has been placed in position for a free throw. When a foul has been called time may be taken out while the ball is being carried to the foul line but not thereafter until all free throws have been tried after which the usual rule applies.

No. 7—A time out is charged for each time out lasting two minutes or fraction thereof except when a substitution, not for an injury, lasts less than 30 seconds or when a substitution in case of injury or disqualification consumes less than two minutes.

No. 8—If a player is fouled in the act of throwing for goal the goal counts if made and the free throws awarded in addition, regardless of when the whisale blows.

"Booster Day" Set For Saturday

Boosters Will Try To Outcheer Student Body

BOOSTERS TO OCCUPY SPECIAL SECTION

By ED FRITZ

Saturday will be "Booster day" at Franklin field and arrangements are under way to fill every seat around the field when New Castle High clashes with Schenley of Pittsburgh.

This was decided at a meeting called by "Doc" McConaghy and Ed. Connery last night at which were members of the alumni and other fans interested in the success of Ne-Ca-High.

After the fans had convened "Bill" Connery was named secretary and the Booster organization decided that while Coach Bridenbaugh is directing the team the way he should, the student-body is not showing enough "pep."

"There is an abundance of 'overconfidence' on the part of the student body and they are not cheering the team as they should," said Jim Lamoree.

It was decided to arrange for a special section to be known as "Booster Section" which will hold 1,000 fans. It will be known as a reserved section and occupied by "Boosters."

They will try in every known manner to outcheer the New Castle student body. Of course, the cheering will be for New Castle but it will serve to show whether the student-body is lame in "pep."

And not only this; no indeed not, according to Lamoree who has been named to take charge of the 'features'. He intends to gather together all sorts of features and they'll be sprung during the game.

The tickets for the "Booster Section" will be placed on sale later. The stores which will handle these pasteboards will be named within a day or more and members of the alumni and other persons interested in the "Booster day" can occupy that section.

It will not matter a continental if you went to school in Podunk or Squeezeville; as long as you're a New Castle High School football team booster, you're welcome in the section if you care to join the throng.

Saturday should be featured by the largest crowd of the season. With alumni and "Boosters" turning out to outcheer the student body and a good tilt on tap, there's no reason why the crowd should not be out of proportions to former games.

Jim Lamoree, named to take charge of the features, is busy lining up a program that will keep all of the fans on edge.

Grove City Team Starts Training For Allegheny Game

GROVE CITY, Pa., Oct. 26.—The Crimson football squad resumed practice again yesterday after three days of rest. The squad is in good shape physically for the Allegheny game next Saturday. Chesty Anderson, end, who has been out of commission for ten days, is again in uniform. Unless some injuries are sustained during the next few days, Coach Bowser will be able to send his strongest lineup against the Methodists, old and honorable rivals of the Grove City team.

The greatest of Coach Bowser's worries is the mental attitude of his players. They have been riding along with a lot of success from the first of last season. Naturally they have gotten to the place where they think they are pretty good. The Crimson coach is trying to impress upon his players the fact that a team is good only as long as it respects the strength of its opponents. The Allegheny team is heavy, powerful and fast. Next Saturday it will also be a determined team. That is the team which Grove City must prepare to defeat.

Although she will still qualify as a junior Miss Louise McFarland of California, the new national junior tennis champion, will not defend her title next year

HALL OF FAME

Nominating BILL McKECHNIE.

By Norman E. Brown.

Because he led the Pittsburgh Pirates to their first pennant in 16 years.

But more especially because he has just been kicked out—a year after doing that.

Because he was given the boot by the same club which started him in the big show back in 1917.

Because he played with Canton and Wheeling between trials with the Pirates and later with St. Paul before he got his first real chance —with New York.

Because he then had to decide between going back to St. Paul or joining the Federal league in 1914 and chose the latter.

Because he played with three more big league clubs after the Feds and Organized Baseball smoked the peace pipe—the Browns, the Giants and Reds—before rejoining the Pushing Pirates.

Because he showed himself to be a glutton for punishment by letting the Pirates release him to St. Paul and being willing to return a year later as manager.

And because he did a fair job of managing the Pirates in 1926 despite the fact that Barney Dreyfuss installed an "assistant to the president," two social secretaries and an adding machine in the dugout to help him along.

Westminster Starts Work For Game With Pitt

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Oct. 26.—With a decided tinge of winter in the air, the Westminster college grid team was sent through a long drill Monday afternoon by Coaches Dwight "Dyke" Beede and Johnny Lawther in preparation for the tilt with the University of Pittsburgh in the Pitt bowl Saturday. The drill came after a rather quiet week end for the blue jerseyed lads. The varsity was idle Saturday afternoon and the athletic authorities took the occasion to transport the players to Pittsburgh where they saw Tech twist the tail of the ferocious Panther in a very convincing way.

It will be quite a task for Westminster's little band of gridders, composed for the most part of freshmen and sophomores, to stalk the hungry Panther in its own lair. Dr. Sutherland, Pitt's mentor, will without a doubt tell his men to do everything next Saturday to hang up a decisive victory. The Pittites need their morale lifted if they are to be in right frame of mind when West Virginia university and W.-J. are met.

The breaks have not been coming in Beede's direction in leaps and bounds. Only a few days ago two regulars received injuries which will impair their playing Saturday. Johnny Hall, a Youngstown, O., lad who has been playing a sensational brand of ball at halfback, is definitely out with a wrenched knee. He has been Westminster's big threat on end runs since McQuiston, passer and punter, received a similar injury earlier in the year and is unable to carry the ball. Ayres or Canonsburg, a guard, is the other injured lad. His knee has proved to be a tricky affair. He will not be in uniform until the latter part of the week and even then may be unable to play.

Just what methods Beede intends to take this week remain to be seen. He was far from satisfied by the play on the Thiel fracas ten days ago but since that time he has made many moves to strengthen the team's play. Scrimmage will be on the board today with the remainder of the week doubtless being devoted to perfecting plays.

Girls' Basketball Team To Practice

The Rick Overland girls' basketball team will hold their first practice Wednesday, October 27, at the Y. W. C. A. building. Every girl who has intentions of trying out for this team will be requested to be present at the initial practice, which will start at 9:00.

'DEVIL' DRIVES FIRE TRUCK WHILE 'BALLETE' EXTINGUISHES BLAZE

DARBY, Pa., Oct. 26.—The devil may gallop through the streets of Athlone, but in Darby he drives the fire engine and even aids in extinguishing fires that threaten peaceful bungalows.

Members of the Darby volunteer fire department were frollicking at their annual masquerade ball when the fire siren screeched its raucous summons.

Led by the devil, ballet girls, Indians, cowboys and even Napoleon himself rushed to the firehouse and manned the engines. A moment later the big bumper was off for the blaze with the horned fiend at the wheel, his tail streaming behind in the breeze.

The defeat in the Yale game was a sad blow for Dartmouth football followers as it was the first game lost by the Green since 1923.

Many Football Stars Are On Injured List

By NORMAN E. BROWN

This apparently is a hard year on football stars.

With the season just well under way several of the outstanding stars of the game have suffered serious injuries.

Bohland, Notre Dame star, was the first. He suffered injuries in the Minnesota game which have kept him out ever since and probably will prevent him from playing the rest of the season.

Syracuse suffered a double blow in its recent game with the Army. In addition to having what it hoped to be a great season marred by a defeat at the hands of the Mule the Syracuse team lost "Whippet" Carr, backfield star and "last resort" man of the team. Carr, Syracuse adherents claim, was "clipped" from behind and the ligaments in his leg torn so seriously that he will not be available for weeks.

Army backers not only deny that the injury to Carr was intentional but refer to alleged "unnecessary" roughness by Syracuse players. Be that as it may Syracuse is without the services of Carr—a tough blow.

Yale has lost Caldwell for a time at least. This is a serious setback to the Blue's hopes. Caldwell is probably the most consistent ground gainer the New Haven team boasts.

Other colleges have suffered injuries of more or less seriousness to their best men.

* * *

Anent the matter of unnecessary roughness it is reported from several points that an element of rowdyism has crept into several games of more or less importance. The Purdue-Wabash game is one listed among "those things".

And another condition has bobbed up, which if not checked immediately is liable to hurt the game.

U. S. Military academy athletic officials are said to be somewhat peeved over Notre Dame's announced plan to play the Army and the Navy next fall.

This little peeve, in itself, is not important, but it raises the question as to how much longer the desire for intersectional games colleges can continue before more strained relations of a similar type develop.

Supposing some other Big Ten team coaxed Tulane into a game. What would be the feeling at Northwestern, which has come to count on the southerners as one of the high spots of the season?

What if Chicago were to switch its eastern appearance to some other campus after several annual clashes with Pennsylvania?

It can readily be seen that there is a pitfall lurking in the intersectional craze that must be watched carefully.

Paul Berlenbach, the man who startled the light heavyweight ranks a couple of years ago with his powerful hitting, is ready to step into the heavyweight class and go after big game there. This is the announcement as Paul the Assassin returns east from California.

Paul decided several months ago that bigger money awaited him in the top class. This before the Tunney-Dempsey fight became a settled affair. He had hopes then of getting a bout with Tunney or even with Dempsey if only as a "set-up" for either one. Then, when Tunney startled most of us (and I can hear some readers chuckle) by beking Dempsey, Berlenbach decided that he might have a chance at the crown itself.

While out on the coast acquiring weight, Berienbach saw Johnny Risko and several other of the much talked of heavies, in action and decided he could take some of them into camp.

Now he's ready. He wants to meet Knute Hansen, Monte Munn, Harry Persson or any of the other young men who have ambitions and a willingness to swap punches. And he'll probably get his wish. He always has been popular in the east. His bouts with Jimmy Delaney and others drew big crowds and sweet purses.

Under-Classmen Meet On Gridiron On November 12

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON Pa., Oct. 26.—Sophomore and Freshman inter-class activities at Westminster college will reach their final stage November 12 when the football teams representing the two classes meet on the college athletic field. Each year the annual grid game brings the fall combats between the classes to an end.

The grid game is something that the members of both classes look forward to for considerable time. It even surpasses the annual flag rush in interest. The contests the past two years have been thrillers. Two years ago the Freshman won by a one point margin when the umpire ruled that a Sophomore player was off-side when the Freshmen were attempting to annex the point after touchdown. The point was awarded the Freshmen and with it went the verdict. Last year the Freshmen again won by a single point.

Both teams have started work. The Sophomore squad of last year is intact while the material that the Freshmen can gather has not yet been tested. Paul Montgomery of New Casale, captain of the varsity will coach one of the squads.

Hit And Run Motorist Sought

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 26.—Police were searching today for the hit and run motorist who killed Martin Reidenberg, 8, in front of his home here last night. The autoist switched off the lights of his machine and sped away.

The Cornell-Pennsylvania game has been a Thanksgiving Day gridiron attraction each year since 1893 with the exception of the war years —1917 and 1918.

Schenley Trying To Secure Train

Expect 750 Football Fans To Follow Schenley To New Castle

DR. BEN GRAHAM TO WITNESS TILT

Efforts are being made by Schenley High to have a special train carry Pittsburgh supporters to New Castle to witness the New Castle-Schenley game at Ben Franklin field, and among the prominent visitors who will witness the gridiron struggle will be Dr. Ben G. Graham, former superintendent of New Castle schools.

According to reports from Pittsburgh, the Shcenley team will be followed to this city by a crowd of 750 fans, and if arrangements planned can be completed they will journey to this city aboard a special train. It is reported that officials of the school are in communication with railroad companies.

Coach Bridenbaugh sent his team through a light signal practice last night and scrimmaging will not start until Wednesday. Although none of the players were battered severely in last Saturday's game, Bridenbaugh wants them to be in superb condition for the Schenley game, which is one of the most important of the season. Schenley has a good team and New Castle players anticipate a bitter struggle.

DETECTIVE ARRESTS TWO OHIO RUNAWAY GIRLS NEAR UNIONTOWN

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Oct. 26.—Charged with being runaways, Kathleen Ruffner, 16, and Florence Marsh, 15, both of Columbus, O., were arrested here by County Detective R. C. Bledsoe at the home of Frank Myers of Black Oaks on the national pike. According to Myers, the girls, drenched to the skin from the rain, came to his home Sunday night and asked to sleep there. Myers consented and in the morning notified the detectives.

The girls told the sleuths they left home because they did not want to go to school. They said they had traveled by "getting lifts in automobiles."

They were lodged in the county jail and their parents were notified.

Although hampered at the start by a lack of promising material, Coach Hollingbery appears to have developed an A-1 football team at Washington State college.

Army Team Has Seasoned "Vets"

Although Coaches Have Changed, Army Still Adheres To Army System

HARDING TO RUN SOLDIERS' BACKFIELD

(Editor's Note:--This is the fifth of a series of football articles by Davis J. Walsh and other staff writers on the leading teams of the East and those of the Middle West that have appeared in this section. Other articles will follow at regular intervals.)

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
Sports Editor Internat'l News Service

WEST POINT, N. Y., Oct. 26.—The old Army game!

Famed for its deathless appeal, this phrase has come down through the ages from the Ballyhoo men at the come-on tent and today it is being followed with great faithfulness on the plains of West Point by a veteran Army eleven that has known its effectiveness these many years. In baseball, it stands for conservatism and, conservative to a fault was Army football under Daly.

Ultimately, the Army changed coaches but it didn't change systems. Even with Jack McEwan in the saddle, it played the old Army game of hit the tackle, sweep the end, throw a pass, punt. McEwan did borrow a bit of Notre Dame's backfield shift but he preferred power over deception to the last and today it is being used to even greater advantage under "Biff" Jones, who has the men to carry it out.

Army Has Veterans

At least eleven veterans are at his service and some of them played three or four years of college football before ever they saw the plains or felt an upper classman's lack of approval. The system hardly matters in this case; the Army has the men.

The backfield, ably directed by Harding, features off tackle slants, wide sweeps around the ends by Harry Wilson and Trapnell, an occasional pass just to keep the opposition in its place and a sound kicking game.

Wilson and Harding are veteran backs. So are Hewitt and Trapnell but the latter pair have been elbowed to the side lines by Cagle and Murrell, fine plungers both. Murrell, they say, was better than Joesting at Minnesota and Cagle also came to the Point with a college reputation, which he failed to dissipate. Hewitt, of course, is held in reserve to be shot at an opposing line when it is weary and flat of foot.

It is a great system when you have the men. However, it may not be enough when West Point plays the big timers and finds that Yale, Notre Dame and the Navy are just a bit inclined to have the men, too. The chances are that "Biff" Jones will see fit to equip the strategic sleeve with some modicum of deception by that time.

Democrats To Have Philadelphia Rally

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 26.—William B. Wilson, Democratic candidate for the United States senate; Judge Eugene C. Bonniwell, nominee for governor, and John Murphy of Pittsburgh, candidate for secretary of internal affairs, will be the chief speakers at a Democratic rally here tonight.

Wilson arrived here today from a tour of Schuylkill county. He spoke at a meeting at Pottsville last night in which he declared: "I look for an upheaval in the vote in the interior of the state," in referring to the sum of money spent in the Pennsylvania primary.

WIDOW OF MINISTER KILLED BY SKIDDING AUTO ALSO SUCCUMBS

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Oct. 26.—As a result of injuries received in an automobile accident last Thursday, when her husband also was killed, Mrs. Edwin F. House, 59 years old, of Altoona, died here in a hospital Sunday night. Rev. and Mrs. House figured in a wreck on the William Penn highway near Mundy's corner when their car skidded and crashed into another automobile, causing the House machine to overturn. House died a few hours after the accident.

Cornell's "Gloomy Gil" By Feg Murray

Copyright, 1926, by Metropolitan Newspaper Service

Next Saturday at the Polo grounds in New York the football teams of Cornell and Columbia grapple in deadly combat. Here is the man who probably will force Mr. David Goldstein of Columbia to remain in school for another year—his sixth or seventh in succession. David, you know, made a bet that he would remain a student at Columbia until the football team of his school beat their rivals from Cornell. Mr. Gilmore Dobie coaches the Big Red team from Ithaca, and that is why Mr. Goldstein is a perpetual student. If some other man coached the Cornell varsity, maybe Davie would get a chance to graduate, but Dobie is too good a coach.

However, if we are to believe all the sounds of wailing and gnashing of teeth that are issuing forth from the College on the Hill, at Ithaca, Cornell is in for a terrible beating, and soon Mr. Golstein will be free to leave the Morningside institution of learning. But those who have followed the fortunes of the teams coached by Gil Dobie for a few years, realize by this time that the pessimistic wailings of the tall cadaverous looking coach, are nothing more than a lot of bunk, a lot of piffle and likewise a lot of camouflage.

Large, wet tears fill the eyes of Gil Dobie annually as he surveys the material from which he must manufacture a football machine that can win games with his favorite off-tackle slants. Gobs of gloom hang around his thin form, as he issues such phrases for publication as "Worst bunch of dubs I ever saw. Will be lucky if we even win a game." Yet, until Williams college beat Cornell in 1924, Dobie's football teams had lost but one game in something like 20 years! That includes nine years at Washington and three with the Navy. This is his sixth season at Cornell. In 1900 Dobie starred as quarterback at Minesota, with "Doc" Williams' "Giants of the North".

He's a great coach, Gil Dobie is, even though he does look like an undertaker. He will undertake to keep Mr. Goldstein at Columbia for another year.

Feg Murray Says—

After being trimmed 16 to 7, the Harvard team has the idea that Geneva is anything but a peace conference.

Miller Divorce Suit Will Not Be Tried Today

(International News Service)

OIL CITY, Pa., Oct. 26.—The suit of Mrs. Emma A. Miller for divorce from Gen. Charles Miller, 83-year-old Franklin, Pa., oil magnate, will not come to trial, opposing counsel indicated here today after an all-night conference.

Basis for a settlement out of court has practically been reached, it was stated. Opposing counsel obtained a postponement when the case was called in Venango county court at Franklin yesterday. The attorneys immediately went into conference in an effort to agree upon a settlement out of court.

In her divorce petition Mrs. Miller accused the aged oil magnate of infidelity and named a New York elevator girl in connection with the case. Miller denied the charges from the outset.

AUCTIONEER DIES

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 26.—Word was received here today of the death in Phoenix, Ariz., of J. R. Pauley of Pittsburgh, widely known in the tri-state area as a farm auctioneer.

Pauley, relatives were informed, went to Arizona to do county fair work . Cause of his death was not stated.

Eddie Collins, the White Sox manager, mentioned as a possible successor to George Sisler as pilot of the St. Louis Browns, has been working in the big leagues for 20 years. Collins started with the Philadelphia Athletics in 1906 and remained with that club nine years before going to Chicago.

The pennant victory of the Des Moines Western league club this year was won from Oklahoma City by the narrow margin of half a game.

ALLEGE LAND FRAUD; ARREST TWO PROMOTERS

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 26.—Two real estate promoters were being held in $10,000 bail each today in a probe by city and county detectives of an alleged gigantic land fraud at Sea Isle City, N. J., and other points in southern New Jersey and Florida that may exceed $2,000,000. The work of investigation has just begun, according to the detectives.

The projects, detectives said, have been an imaginary lands off the coast. Faked motion pictures and pictures of buildings on other real estate developments in Atlantic City have been used in selling the imaginary lots. Hundreds of Italian wage earners were swindled out of their savings, detectives said.

Charles P. La Grossa and his father-in-law, Dominic Cini, heads of the Prudential Development corporation, were arrested yesterday on charges of fraudulently obtaining money in the Sea Isle City Garden project. The arrest of the two men came about when Christian Donch, sales manager for the company, threatened by various customers when they found their lots under water, swore to affidavits against the two promoters.

Trotsky Menace To Communists

By H. R. KNICKERBOCKER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

MOSCOW, Oct. 26.—Although Trotsky and his followers have been silenced as opponents of the policy of the communist party, the ideas which they still retain constitute the chief danger to the party, Joseph Stalin, general secretary of the party, declared today in a speech at the opening of the 15th conference of the communist party.

"The communist party must now try to force the opposition to recognize their ideological errors," Stalin declared.

Stalin denounced Trotsky's "Meneshevik belief that socialism can't succeed in Russia until other European states turn bolshevist" and declared that the party must continue to befriend the peasants, despite Trotsky's proposal to exploit them in favor of the proletariat.

The communist party unity is preserved, Stalin said, and the opposition has been stifled but unless their ideas are wiped out they will continue to menace the party.

HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

© McClure Newspaper Syndicate

Registered U. S. Patent Office.

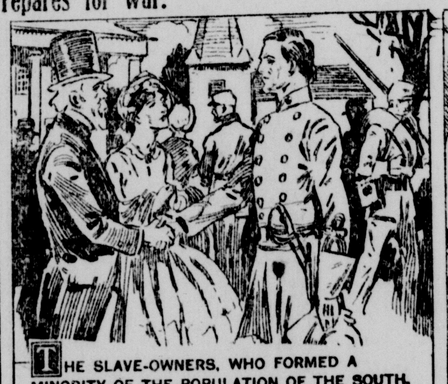

The South Prepares for War.

THE SCENES OF FEVERISH PREPARATION FOR WAR, FOUND EVERYWHERE IN THE NORTH, FOLLOWING PRESIDENT LINCOLN'S CALL FOR TROOPS, WERE DUPLICATED THROUGHOUT THE SOUTH. FROM TOWNS AND PLANTATIONS THE "SONS OF DIXIE" SPRANG TO ARMS TO RESIST WHAT THEY CONSIDERED AN ATTEMPT TO "OVERAWE, OPPRESS AND FINALLY SUBJUGATE THE PEOPLE OF THE CONFEDERATE STATES."

PRESIDENT JEFFERSON DAVIS OF THE CONFEDERACY, HIMSELF A WEST POINT GRADUATE AND DISTINGUISHED VETERAN OF THE MEXICAN WAR, SHOWED GREAT ENERGY IN BRINGING THE SOUTH TO A STATE OF PREPAREDNESS. HE CALLED FOR 100,000 VOLUNTEERS AND NEGOTIATED LOANS TO CARRY ON THE WAR.

THE SLAVE-OWNERS, WHO FORMED A MINORITY OF THE POPULATION OF THE SOUTH, HAD URGED SECESSION IN THE INTEREST OF SLAVERY, BUT IT WAS THE THREATENED INVASION OF THE SOUTHLAND BY FEDERAL ARMIES THAT CAUSED THE GREAT MASS OF SOUTHERNERS TO RISE AS ONE MAN TO THE DEFENSE OF THE CONFEDERACY.

THE SOUTH HAD NO NAVY AT THE BEGINNING OF THE WAR. TO STRIKE A BLOW AGAINST THE UNION AT SEA, JEFFERSON DAVIS ISSUED A PROCLAMATION (APRIL 17, 1861), AUTHORIZING THE FITTING OUT OF CONFEDERATE PRIVATEERS AND COMMERCE DESTROYERS.

Earth Shocks Are Recorded

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—Three earth shocks, one of unusually severe intensity, were recorded at Georgetown University within the six hours following 11:03 o'clock last night. Father Tondorf, seismographist, announced today. He could not tell in what direction the tremors were, but said they occurred 3,700 miles from Washington.

The public has a lot of faith, but it can't understand why the great destroy the records when they are accused.

N. Y. STOCKS

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct 26.—There was not sufficient momentum in the stock market at the beginning of trading today to continue the moderate rally in prices which closed Monday's dull and featureless session. A further decline of $72,000,000 in brokers' loans, added to last week's shrinkage of $82,000,000, emphasized the wide range of the liquidation in stocks, but this was without effect on the big speculative market.

The banking syndicate which handled the $50,000,000 Belgian stabilization loan announced its over-subscription in a half-hour after the opening of the books, and trading in the new bonds was immediately inaugurated on the Stock Exchange at 94 to 94⅝, fractionally above the offering price.

Stock prices sagged to slightly under the weight of liberal offerings. Lower levels, with the exception of a few of their mercantile stocks, the tire stocks and one or two of the specialties. Oil stocks were firm in the face of a series of price cuts in crude oil and gasoline by Texas Company, Sinclair and various Standard Oil Companies, and a huge increase in crude oil production.

Call money renewed at 4½ per cent, unchanged from Monday. Commodity markets were generally lower, though price changes were narrow. Cotton failed to rally, while grain prices were fractionally higher.

Council Refuses To Grant Request

Pennsylvania Power Company Must Move Pole And Furnish Name Change Evidence

Council today refused to grant permission to the Pennsylvania Power company to place two poles in West Leasure avenue.

Councilmen indicated no permits will be extended to the company, until a recent request is satisfied.

They requested Louis Rounds, local superintendent to file with the city documentary evidence of a change in name from the P.-O. Electric and New Castle Electric companies to the Pennsylvania Power company.

Councilman Davies also said that a request of one year's standing to relocate a pole at South Mill street and Long avenue has not been fulfilled.

Until the pole referred to is moved and the necessary papers showing the change in the title of the company is furnished permits will not be granted, councilmen said.

Spanish Sailors First On Island

Discover Records To Show That Spanish Sailors Discovered Hawaii

IMPOSE SENTENCE ON YOUTHFUL THUG

(International News Service)

HONOLULU, Oct. 26.—Evidence that Spanish sailors landed in the Hawaiian Islands two or three centuries before the coming of the first American missionaries is contained in a document recently discovered in the public archives of the territory. This paper, originally written in Barcelona, Spain, was among the possessions of the Kamehameha line of kings. In it, a portion of the islands believed to be the district of Kau, island of Hawaii is refered to and the inhabitants are described as "long brown men."

The supervisors of the city and county of Honolulu have voted to accept the gift of the Bishop Estate trustees of 1300 acres of land for a public park near Koko Head crater. The terms of the gift are that the municipality shall lay pipe and furnish water for the park, which the supervisoral body has agreed to do. The new park is about eight miles from the center of the town on the southern end of the island. It contains many natural advantages for scenic development, including the quaint little bay of Hanauma, which was one of the favorite fishing resorts of old time Hawaiians.

Hawaii's superintendent of public instruction, Will C. Crawford, proved recently that war time training still has its peace time uses when he borrowed an army plane from Luke Field and flew it on an official inspection trip to the island of Kauai, some ninety miles north of Oahu. Crawford is a member of the aviation reserve corps and spends two weeks in training each summer at the annual encampment period. He is considered in army circles as one of the best civilian fliers on the island. Consequently when he discovered that a change in sailing schedules had caused him to miss an inter-island steamer the other evening, he had no difficulty in securing a plane and a mechanic for an early flight the following morning to Kauai.

A day's tour through the territorial penitentiary with a visit to the work cell and a practical demonstration of the "Oregon boot" included, was the unusual sentence pronounced by Federal Judge William T. Rawlins of the local district court on a 17-year old Hawaiian boy who had confessed to breaking into the post office at Kaunakakai village, island of Molokai. The lad stated that he had ordered a pair of shoes by mail, collect on delivery. As the time for the arrival of the shoes drew near, he found himself without funds to pay for them. Accordingly he hit upon the idea of taking them for nothing. Once inside the post office, he stated, he heard noises in the dark and frantically seizing all of the bundles in reach he made for the open. He was arrested the following day. Judge Rawlins in imposing sentence cautioned prison officials to make the tour complete and impressive.

Mrs. Lukia Makaena, an aged Hawaiian woman, one of those few who still cling to the ancient grass hut and the hand-pounded poi, has never visited the cities of the Pacific Coast, never in fact been off of the island of Oahu, but nightly by a radio set whose aerial is suspended between a mango and lauhala tree she listens to jazz and bedtime stories which swing down on the trade wind from broadcasting stations across the two thousand miles of ocean water. Mrs. Makaena is 75 years of age, strong of body and clear of mind. Her home fits snugly up against a cliff of the Koolau mountain range, windward Oahu, and a little mountain stream babbles past the hut, spreading itself into the taro patch a little farther down the valley.

Some of the cod lines used in the fishing industry measure nearly 80 miles in length.

Making Plans To Boost Cheering At High School Games

ELLWOOD CITY, Pa., Oct. 26.—There is an effort being made in the Ellwood High school to stir up enthusiasm among the people of the bleachers, to urge the team on to victory. A parade was planned for Saturday, but it did not turn out so well. Greater efforts will be made to have a parade for the coming game with Rochester. Parades are being planned, new yells are being taught by the cheer leaders.

The team has been disheartened by the little enthusiasm shown by the rooters from the side lines. Every Saturday they gather together and a few lusty cheers leap from the throats of the Ellwood enthusiasts, but they are lacking in volume.

It is not the fault of the cheer leaders. They are out at every game doing their best, but their motions do not bring result desired.

The writer recalls when, two years ago, after Ellwood High got a poor start and lost three out of 5 games at the first of the season, the students of the High school showed real spirit and had big parades the Friday night before every big game. The result was that the local team won from all the Valley rivals and only lost to New Castle after a hard struggle.

Surely the students of the High school like to see their team win. We have a good team, maybe it is not so heavy, it is fast, and well trained. This Saturday, Ellwood plays Rochester. If they win they have a good chance for the Valley cup. The team will need more encouragement than it has been getting from the sidelines.

LOSE DEATH RACE WITH SMALL BOY

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 26.—Little James Paul Ryan, 14-months-old, of St. Michaels, Pa., lost his race with death today when he succumbed in a hospital here while physicians worked desperately to dislodge a steel paper-clip from his throat.

In freezing weather and with snow falling on the mountain highways, the child's father, James Ryan, and his uncle, John Mates, set out in an automobile with the child for Pittsburgh after physicians at the Windber, Pa., hospital decided the only hope for his life rested with the Pittsburgh hospitals, where better facilities were available.

They traveled 80 miles against a biting wind, finally arriving here late last night. An X-ray showed the clip lodged in the child's windpipe. It had been swallowed three days ago and the boy was so weak he died while physicians were working with him.

TO DEDICATE NEW CHURCH

Coaltown Free Methodist Church Dedication On November 14

Formal dedication services of the new Coaltown Free Methodist church will take place Sunday, November 14, with an appropriate program, the pastor, Rev. George M. McCreary, stated today.

The quarterly conference will be conducted in connection with the dedication and will begin on November 11. An invitation has been sent to all former pastors which number about 12, and former members to be present at the services. Rev. G. S. McCleary, who built the first church on the present site 35 years ago, is now located in California and will not be able to attend.

Rev. N. B. Miner of the New York conference will preach the dedicatory sermon on Sunday morning. An address will be made in the afternoon by a returned missionary and Rev. Miner will again speak in the evening. The entire services will be in charge of the elder of the conference, Rev. A. J. Beattie.

The new edifice is located on the site of the old church building on the road from Coaltown to Walmo and is about the same size as the former church. It is modern thruout and the auditorium and balcony have a good sized seating capacity. There are also class rooms and a finished basement.

Don't dose a Child's Cold

CHILDREN hate to be dosed with medicine. Vicks VapoRub relieves colds, without dosing, in two ways at once. When rubbed over throat and chest at bedtime:—

(1) It is vaporized by the body heat and inhaled right to the inflamed air passages and lungs;

(2) At the same time it acts through the skin like an old-fashioned poultice, "drawing out" the pain, tightness and soreness.

Of course Vicks is just as good for the cold troubles of adults.

Daniel Leasure Auxiliary Has Hallowe'en Party

Annual masquerade and Hallowe'en party of Daniel Leasure Auxiliary No. 5, United Spanish American War Veterans, which was an event of last evening in the Sons of Union Veterans hall in the City building, was the greatest success of any of these events held in past years and was attended by approximately fifty couples. The hall was decorated in keeping with the occasion and presented a very attractive appearance.

The costumes displayed were out of the ordinary and most interesting, attractive and excellent design. The judges for the awarding of the several excellent prizes offered for the best costumes were Mayor William H. Dunlap, Scott Hamilton and Edward Carr. They found it difficult in making some of the awards owing to the keen competition.

Dancing and cards were the chief diversions of the evening and at ten o'clock, the grand march was held with Clark Buell as leader and marshal. This was followed by refreshments consisting of cider and doughnuts served by the committee in charge, which consisted of Mrs. Elmer J. Suber, chairlady, Mrs. Scott Hamilton, Miss Virginia Lash, Mrs. Edward Carr and Mrs. Sadie Fray.

The winners of the several prizes, the costumes worn and the prizes award follows: First prize—Miss Sabina McClaren, Statue of Liberty, draped in a flag with crown and electric light—prize string of pearl beads; second prize—Miss Elsie Lash, Mexican boy, gold cuff links; third prize—Miss Elsie Brandon, Amish girl, scarf; Fourth prize, Mrs. L. D. Colvin, farmer girl, hose; fifth prize, L. D. Colvin, farmer, necktie; sixth prize, Robert Ritz, lady, framed picture.

The success of the occasion was due to the efforts of the committee of the auxiliary already named and those assisting in other ways.

Has Copy Of Paper Issued At Wampum

Frank Halyday Of Leesburg Brings Interesting Copy Of Old Paper To The News

Frank Halyday of Leesburg brought an interesting curio to The News office on Monday afternoon in the shape of a publication issued at Wampum years ago. It was known as the Wampum Quivver, and was published in 1875, the publisher at the time being J. Edd Leslie.

The particular issue which Mr. Halyday owns was kept because it carried an account of a baseball game in which his father, James L. Halyday, now of Linesville, Pa., but formerly of this city, took part. The paper was published weekly and was devoted to news items of the vicinity of Wampum.
